B. C. Barnes did not plan to be a teacher until he was offered a position at North Texas Agricultural College in 1929. Since that time he has served in a myriad of capacities in the classroom and administration, watching the school become Arlington State College and then the University of Texas at Arlington.

Barnes taught in the commercial arts department before leaving for military service during World War II. He returned to head the department. He describes close contact with students, which he enjoyed particularly while in the classroom, as the most rewarding part of his career.

Barnes served as registrar for twelve years, beginning in 1947. He then became director of business and finance, a position which was elevated to vice-presidential status during Barnes' tenure.

In addition to school duties Barnes found time to be an active citizen, serving on the Arlington city council for several years and then as mayor.

Now vice-president for administration, Barnes retires this year.

The Junior Aggie, the NTAC yearbook, dedicated to Barnes in 1949, described him as "star salesman of NTAC, (who) has convinced hundreds of prospective freshmen that an education at this institution is something worth having."

B. C. Barnes served as city councilman and later mayor of Arlington.

Barnes and then-president Dr. Jack Woolf inspect construction of Texas Hall in 1965.

University President Emeritus Dr. J. R. Woolf said recently, "B. C. Barnes has served students and faculty through four decades of extraordinary educational history. He has proven to be of distinctive service to three chief administrators, often being called upon to undertake special missions of great importance. He has given personal help to many students and faculty members in such a modest way that few have known of his philanthropy. His career and that of this college have been one and the same, to the benefit of the college."

Barnes defines the purpose of a university as "to educate people to give them the ability to earn a place in society both economically and through service."

He summed up his goal of life, "To live a life that would be of service to people I come in contact with, based on a philosophy teaching that every person should have the right to do the things he wants to do so long as he does not infringe on the rights of others and conforms to the will of the majority, while working to change that will if he deems it necessary."

In respect for his years of service to this school, the 1969 Reveille is dedicated to B. C. Barnes.

Dallas Becoming Electronics Center

Forty years ago, Dallas students of then North Texas Agricultural College in Arlington could ride to school on the interurban, an electric railway linking Dallas and Ft. Worth.

The interurban is gone, now, but several North Texas Agricultural College in Arlington each morning. Forty per cent of the University's students are from Dallas County.

Dallas is the financial and cultural center of the Southwest. With an estimated 800,000 population in the city and 1,250,000 in the county, it is the second largest metropolitan area in Texas. Dallas is also an inportant industrial center, with several plants of Collins, Ling-Tempco-Vought and Texas Instruments, major electronics and aviation firms, hiring thousands, including a large number of UT Arlington students.

Dallas is also an entertainment center, with State Fair Musicals, its noted Dallas Theatre Center and the annual State Fair, the nation's largest.

In cooperation with its longtime rival, Ft. Worth, Dallas is building a $500,000,000 regional airport north of Arlington which will cover 20,000 acres.

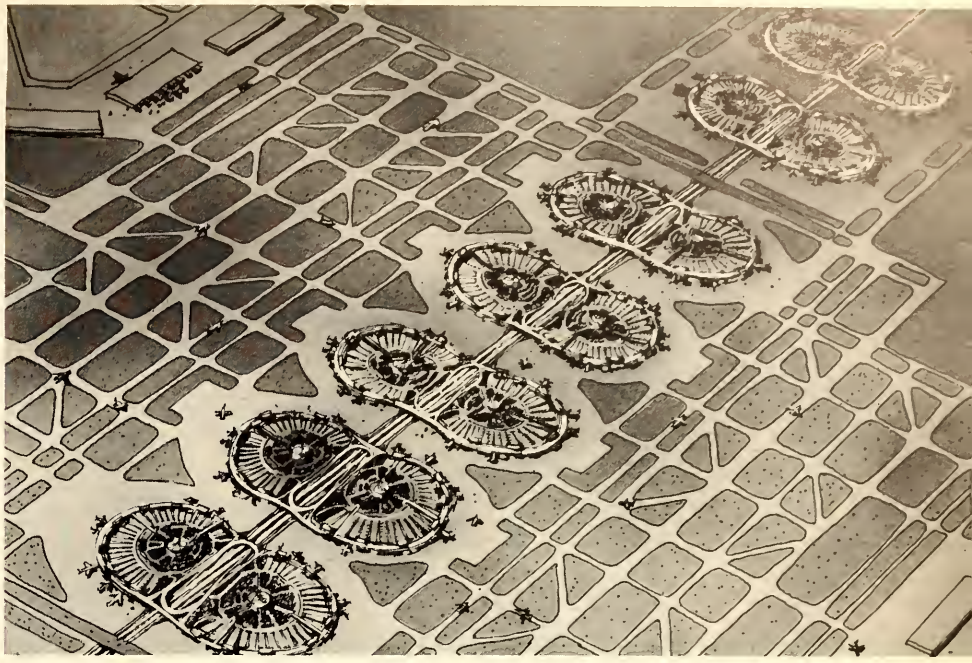
Fort Worth Retains Western Atmosphere

Although the Western tradition which has made Fort Worth famous is still a part of the city, the community has become an aircraft manufacturing center.

General Dynamics-Fort Worth, employing over 15,000, produces the variable-wing F-111 fighter plane for the Air Force. Bell Helicopter builds a majority of the aircraft being used in the Vietnam war. In addition Menasco builds aircraft parts for many leading aircraft builders.

Ft. Worth first gained prominence as a town on the Chisholm Trail, the most heavily used of the cattle trails from south Texas to Kansas and Missouri rail heads. The city became a railhead itself in 1876 and in 1900 Armour and Swift installed what were then the largest packing houses in the Southwest.

Ft. Worth has a population nearing 400,000 with Tarrant County about 600,000. Over 40 per cent of UT Arlington's students are Tarrant County residents.



Long noted for their rivalries, Dallas and Ft. Worth joined forces to begin work on what will be the world's largest airport, a 20,000 acre, $500,000,000 facility to be located about 10 miles north of Arlington.

Arlingtonites Nearing 90,000

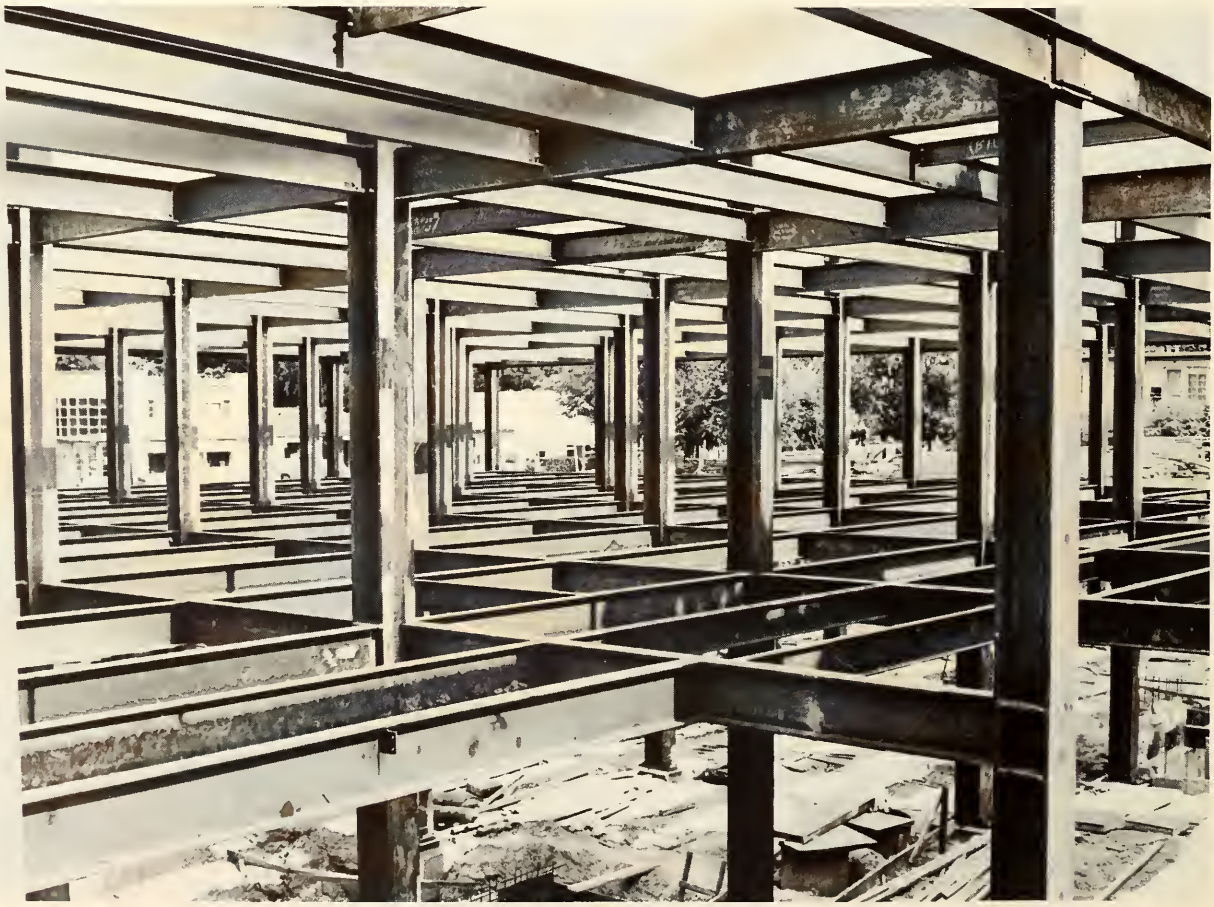
Like the University, the city of Arlington has experienced two periods of extensive growth.

During the period 1950-1960, then Arlington State College grew from a 2,000 student junior college to a four year school with over 5,000 students. During that same period Arlington grew from 7,000 to 44,000 while at the same time changing from a semi-rural agricultural town to an industrial city. Major industrial growth began in 1954 with the opening of the General Motors Assembly Plant, employing over 3,000.

In the last nine years, the college has matured into a university complete with graduate studies and a 12,000-student population. The city during this time has grown from 44,000 to about 90,000. Most of the giant Great Southwest Industrial District was built during this time, along with its famous Six Flags Over Texas amusement park.

Several thousand UT Arlington students live in apartments bordering the campus. Apartment construction, coupled with residential housing and industrial building have resulted in weekly permits usually totaling over $1,000,000.

Tom Vandergriff, Arlington mayor since 1951, has been one of the major boosters of UT Arlington, and was one of the major workers in the school's attaining a four-year program.



Construction, such as the Bell Telephone installation being built near the UT Arlington campus has been a common sight in Arlington since 1953 when General Motors opened a major assembly plant. Student population has helped create an apartment boom.

90 Eager Students —UT Arlington in 1895

With a minimum of ingredients—one block of land, a two-story frame building, $5,000 capital, 90 eager students and a handful of faculty—L. M. Hammond and H. W. Trimble fashioned Arlington College in 1895. Seventy-four years and seven name changes later, the college has emerged as The University of Texas at Arlington with 257 acres of land, $38,000,000 worth of facilities, over 400 teachers and 12,500 students. As a private school, a military school and finally, a state-supported institution, the school has grown with its surroundings.

Located in an area whose population has grown from 75,000 to over 2,000,000 in the 74 years of the school's history, UT Arlington can claim a proud heritage of change and growth as well as a promising future as a vitally modern university. In 1970, the school will celebrate its 75th anniversary as an institution of higher learning and its third anniversary as UTA.

Arlington's library marked its second full year of operation in enlarged quarters. An automated check-out system was installed in 1968.

E. H. Hereford Student Center was named in memory of a former president of what was then Arlington State College. The University of Texas name was adopted in 1967.

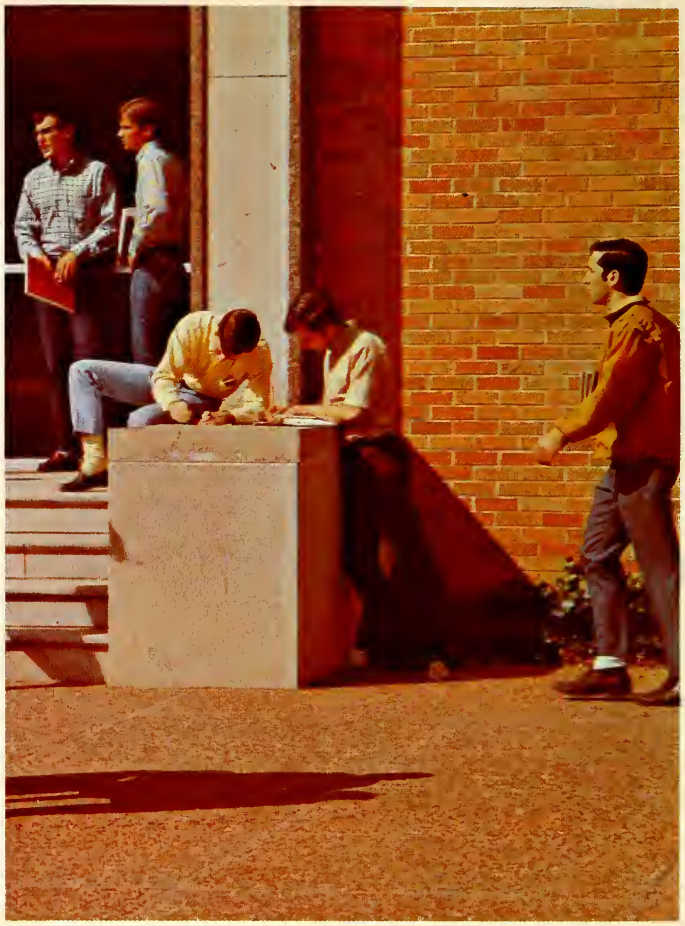
Students pause to chat before classes in the Science Building, completed in 1962. The department offers degrees through the Master of Science level.

Established midway between Dallas and Fort Worth in 1895, Arlington College functioned as a private school for seven years. It became Carlisle Military Academy 1902-1913. At this time, an Army ROTC program was initiated. The school was later known as Arlington Training School, 1913-1916, and Arlington Military Academy, 1916-1917.

In 1917, after 10 years of effort on the part of community leaders, the school was incorporated into the Texas A&M System as a state-supported institution. It was given junior college status and was named Grubbs Vocational College. The four-year school, including the last two years of high school and the first two years of college, offered courses in agriculture, home economics, manual training, commercial skills such as typing and shorthand, woodworking and mechanical drawing.

The name was changed in 1923 to The North Texas Agricultural College. A broad educational program was developed at NTAC, including liberal arts, fine arts and pre-professional courses in architecture, engineering, law and medicine. In addition, terminal programs in aeronautical technology and electrical technology were available.

In 1939, the college was fully accredited as a junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and in 1949, it was the largest state-supported junior college in Texas. Under the name Arlington State College, the school began a decade of unprecedented change and growth from 1949-1959.



Carlisle Hall rises above the Administration Building and Preston Hall, both long-time landmarks.

The engineering school quadrupled its enrollment during the three-year period 1953-1956, as did the schools of business, liberal arts and science. Declining enrollment in the areas of agriculture and home economics caused these programs to be phased out. Overall enrollment rose from around 1750 in 1949 to 6150 in 1959.

A 100% population increase in the Dallas-Fort Worth area between 1940 and 1955, and tremendous economic growth brought about by industrial expansion were taken into consideration by the 56th Texas Legislature when it approved senior college status for the school in 1959. At this time, the college instituted baccalaureate degrees in aerospace, civil, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineering, economics, English, foreign languages, mathematics, history, sociology, psychology, biology chemistry, geology, physics and business administration.

Teaching certification as well as pre-professional transfer courses and two-year technical and business courses leading to an Associate in Science diploma were also included. The Army extended its ROTC program, enabling students to earn both a baccalaureate degree and an Army commission.

The decade of growth from 1959 to 1969 was accentuated by a doubled enrollment. Figures jumped from a little over 6,000 in 1959 to 12,500 in 1969. The focal point of these 10 years was 1965. In that year, Arlington State College moved from the Texas A&M System to The University of Texas System. Under new leadership, the college made greater advances in the areas of graduate programs, building construction and student participation in college life.

Mall Construction Brings Mud Fest

A new, scenic mall, cutting right through the middle of UT Arlington's campus, was completed in mid-March and many observers feel that the end result was worth the many painstaking delays encountered in the construction.

The mall, built at a cost of approximately $250,000, is composed of concrete and bricks, arranged in patterns and squares.

Construction on the walkway was detained several times during the course of the year, due to many strikes and what a campus inspector for the UT System called "temporary delays."

During these delays, rains pelted the campus, causing students to virtually resort to water-wings in order to attend classes. Occasionaly figures assumed almost Robin-Hood positions, battling for position on the wooden planks. They lacked only quarterstaves to complete the comic situations.

Workmen add finishing touches to brick sidewalk replacing the old intersection of College St. and Second in front of Engineering Building.

Leveling for the mall began in the summer of 1968 when bull dozers upended existing streets and sidewalks.

Controversy between University construction inspectors and the mall contractors resulted in a three week work stoppage in mid-winter.

Construction problems caused by bad weather turned the campus into a stream laced bog, with mud-covered boards serv ing as sidewalks.

Brick planters being constructed on the mall provide place for conversation.

Society's Future Subject of Studies

The UT Arlington School of Social Work, which opened last fall, offers the only master's degree in social work program in North Texas.

Under the two-year program, students spend three days a week in the classroom and two at such institutions as the Family Service Association and the Children's Medical Center, where they are supervised by qualified field instructors.

The courses they select prepare them either for direct person-to-person services or for administration or community planning, which involves work with larger groups to prevent social problems.

The Hoblitzelle Foundation has given the school a $25,000 grant to assist in the development of a library. Dr. Fernando Torgerson, school director, said the gift will help remove "a major hurdle on the road to early accreditation."

The school hopes to be recognized by the Council of Social Work in 1970, the earliest possible time.

Plans are underway for an institute, which will serve as a teaching and research center for the school and a service facility for public and voluntary organizations, as well as individuals and groups.

Dr. Torgerson said the institute would provide " a program of direct personal services, consultation, training and community planning."

Under present plans class size will increase from 26 this year to around 50 next fall and keep doubling until a cutoff of about 250 students is reached.

Cooper Center, located in a rejuvenated high school building, will house university agencies concerned with community problems.

The UT Arlington Office of Continuing Education aims its programs at the student who has received his last college degree.

Working with industries and professional organizations, the office develops programs needed to keep employees up to date. Two to three day seminars and two to three week minicourses are taught by imported experts and members of the UTA faculty.

Director W. Doug Moore said these programs differ from usual college education because participants are assumed to have some knowledge of the subject matter. Programs are kept flexible so that those enrolled "get what they want."

Moore said the office "works as an ally with business to keep area industry competitive on a national level."

Though the current emphasis is on industrial fields, Moore hopes to add reeducation in the humanities. The office will also serve as "conference chairman" for the Institute of Urban Studies and work closely with the School of Social Work.

Next year it will be housed with these two agencies in Cooper Center, the former Ousley Junior High.

Moore explained the increasing need for "life-long learning" programs, "As we lengthen life span, there are more adults and the rate of change in knowledge is faster, creating a greater need for self-renewal."

Language Instruction In New Facilities

UT Arlington's Foreign Language Department began its degree program in 1959 with only French, German, Latin, and Spanish being taught.

Latin has since been dropped from the curriculum. Russian was added in 1961, Portuguese in 1967, and Japanese in 1968. In addition to the six languages, linguistics is also taught. All modern language courses have as their aims: (1) comprehension, (2) speaking, (3) reading, (4) writing, and (5) an understanding of the life and the culture of the people using the language.

The foreign language department, headed by Virgil Poulter, has a staff of 26. All students taking a first or second semester foreign language are required to spend two hours a week in lab. The language lab can play as many as 21 different tapes at one time.

Norman Whitlock, lab director, is presently conducting an experimental Spanish course which adds the visual method of teaching by employing slides and movies. According to Whitlock, seeing and hearing the language in action as the students do in the new experimental class, facilitates learning.

Virgil Poulter heads a staff of 24 language teachers.

Lab assistant Carmelita Escajeda changes a tape used in the foreign language lab. The lab's system allows the playing of as many as 21 tapes simultaneously.

Foreign Language lab facilities include private booths for use by as many as 144 students at once. Six languages are taught by the department.

Activities

Forum Attracts Political Leaders

Efforts to get then-Presidential candidate Richard Nixon to appear at the Student Activities sponsored Presidential Forum proved futile, but forum spokesman Kathi Bomar did present an impressive group of political speakers during the October sessions.

Among those speaking were house minority leader Gerald Ford of Michigan (Rep.); David Mark; Bob Price; Texas Senator Ralph Yarborough; Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers; news commentator Sander Vanocur and U. S. Congressman Jim Wright and Jim Collins. Also Doug DeCluitt, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor and Ben Barnes, Democratic candidate for the same office.

Forum organizers had hoped to get Nixon and California Governor Ronald Reagan. Reagan was unable to come, however, because of a meeting of the Board of Regents of the California University system. Nixon was unable to speak because of an engagement in Dallas.

Greek Impact On Campus Life Felt

UT Arlington entered its first full year of National Greek fraternity and sorority activities in the fall of 1968.

Phi Gamma Delta (Fijis) and Phi Delta Theta both received their charters from their respective national organizations, thus affiliating all six fraternities with national groups.

San Souci sorority became Alpha Chi Omega; Avolonte, the oldest sorority on campus, became Zeta Tau Alpha and Les Choisies is currently pledging Delta Delta Delta. Phi Mu and Delta Zeta both came on campus in 1967. En Ami is still a local organization.

Sororities pledged over 50 coeds in the fall and 104 in the spring. Fraternities took 129 men in the fall and 130 in spring rush. Over 600 men went through the two rush periods, although some were not eligible to pledge.

This year marked the last time deferred rush will be held by Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils.

Competition Messy In Winter Olympics

Licorice ice cream flowed thick and eggs cracked as UT Arlington's sorroity coeds showed their "athletic prowess" in the Phi Delta Theta Winter Olympics in December.

Members of the six womens' groups competed in tricycle and wagon "chariot races," tossed eggs, tested their abilities with the shot and javelin and fed each other melted black ice cream—blindfolded.

Delta Zeta placed first in the Olympics. Alpha Chi Omega was second, followed by Zeta Tau Alpha. Trophies were awarded at a dance given by the Phi Delts for sorority members and their dates.

Phi Delta Theta, formerly Alfasig, has sponsored the coed competitions for the past three years.

En Ami Janet Hardin suffers through a hard splash in a round of musical tubs in the Phi Delt sponsored Winter Olympics.

Homecoming Bonfire Attracts 15,000

Baptist Student Union's Homecoming Float "One Nation Under God" received several awards.

Fifteen thousand Arlington residents and university students witnessed the lighting of UT Arlington's Homecoming bonfire Nov. 8.

Work on the bonfire began some two weeks before as campus fraternities collected scrap-wood and other materials. A helicopter was used to add finishing touches to the top of the pile. Fraternity members served as guards. The Fijis were honored for gathering the most wood.

Sandra Griffin was crowned Miss Dixie Belle Saturday night at the UT Arlington-Arkansas State game by Acting President Dr. Frank Harrison. In a game deciding the Southland Conference championship Arkansas State edged past the Rebels 22-21.

A Homecoming Parade was held in the morning through downtown Arlington with over 100 entries. Singer Neil Diamond appeared Friday night after the bonfire.

Others receiving honors during the Homecoming festivities were Jim Pritchett and Candy Beach, Mr. and Miss Rebel Spirit. Phi Delta Theta fraternity received the Spirit Stick.

Thousands of area residents and students gathered to watch the burning of the Rebel's giant bonfire. The Fijis won the award for gathering the most bonfire wood.

UT Arlington ran into trouble in the closing minutes of the Southland Conference title deciding game with Arkansas State. The Indians downed the Rebels 22-21.

Sandra Griffin, a 20-year-old junior, was elected Miss Dixie Belle. Congratulating her are Acting President Dr. Frank Harrison and school spirit leader Johnny Reb, Scott Taylor.

Campus Contests Name Beauties, Uglies

Coeds practiced their smiles and males worked on their grimaces as competition began in the Alpha Phi Omega sponsored Beauty and the Beast Contest in December.

The contest pitted campus groups against one another in order to make money for a school gift. Votes were sold for a penny each. Delta Zeta's Biff Ord won the beauty title while Mike Kirkland of Trinity dorm was named as most ugly. Awards were presented at the Christmas Snow Ball in December.

Kathi Harrison was chosen the girl most likely to be a Swede in the Student Activities Board sponsored Miss Sweden competition. The contest was part of a week-long series of displays and activities honoring Sweden.

Debbie Bridges was first-runner up, with Charlotte Groce taking third. All were blondes in keeping with Nordic tradition.

Fun, Work Highlight Greek Week Activities

Greek Week began March 23 with Campus Canto, a song and dance competition with the theme "That Wonderful Year". Phi Gamma Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha won first place honors.

On Monday evening, John Putman, listed as one of America's 10 most outstanding young men, addressed college students and the general public in a speech in Texas Hall that praised students in America today. Putman said that the Greek system is successful because it is "working toward a common goal and cause, learning to accept fault in things held positive, moving forward with these positive values and accepting the negative values a person has.

"The brotherhood of men transcends the sovereignity of nations."

The Greeks hosted a picnic on Wednesday at which orphans from the Lena Pope Home in Fort Worth were treated to an afternoon at Forest Park. The children had big brothers and sisters at least for one afternoon, and were given an Easter egg hunt and games and refreshments.

Friday the Greeks cleaned, trimmed, painted, and mowed several blocks in Arlington. Friday's activities included completely repainting, inside and out, of a church.

Saturday evening each pledge was presented at a formal ball at the Blackstone Hotel in Fort Worth.

A few rain-soaked Greeks attended the annual Blue-White game held during Greek Week. It marked the final spring scrimmage for Rebel gridders.

Controversy

Rebel Flag Abolition Stirs Controversy

UT Arlington student government resolution 132 has generated more student unrest and controversy than any other action in the history of what had often been called "Apathetic Arlington."

In the simple act of passing a resolution, a student government on its last day in office abolished on April 29 the Confederate battle flag and called for a phase-out of the entire Rebel theme.

The resolution brought the flag down on July 1, 1968. A committee was appointed to find a suitable flag and theme replacement. The Rebel theme was a 17-year-old tradition at the school.

Agitation by several groups for several months before action by the lame duck student governing group had called for replacing the theme on the grounds that it discriminated against minorities, especially Negro students because of the association of the Rebel with the Confederate States of America and the Civil War, fought partly over the Confederacy's rights to hold slaves.

Opponents to the resolution began organizing the same day the first of 4,400 student signatures on petitions calling for a referendum. The next day, between 500 and 1,000 students staged a peaceful demonstration calling for the student vote.

Efforts to rescind the resolution during a very stormy first Student Congress meeting failed to receive the necessary two-thirds majority required under a new constitution which went into effect with that meeting.

Action by then-President Jack R. Woolf during the summer led to the holding of a student referendum in December, 1968.

UT Arlington's Rebel flag comes down for what may have been the last time. A student government resolution abolished both the flag and the entire Rebel theme by July 1, 1969.

Students sign petitions protesting in May the actions of Student Government and Student Congress and campus-wide referendum on abolishing the Rebel theme.

Campus security officers raise a new flag bearing the official school seal after the Rebel flag was brought down July 1 by a Student Government resolution.

Champions of both sides of the flag issue were eager to be heard at the first meeting of the newly elected Student Congress. Bill Slusser, left, called for rescinding the resolution passed by a previous student government. Fred Bell was recognized from the gallery and talked at some length about his desire to have the flag pulled down permanently.

An estimated 1,000 students staged a peaceful demonstration on the UT Arlington campus April 30 to protest Student Government's abolishing the Rebel flag and theme without first conducting a referendum.

The Rebel Issue

The following comments reflect what we believe to be a fairly accurate survey of the wide range of thought and feeling on the Rebel flag and theme issue. Certainly there are others involved in both sides of the controversy who are as articulate spokesmen for their beliefs as those whose views are presented here. However, we feel these six statements illustrate the very definite differences of opinion present in this controversy.

Burnice Smith
Negro student leader

"Black students" have been members of the academic community of the University of Texas at Arlington since 1963. With the flower in Integration in one hand and the look of Brotherly Love in their brown eyes, many students of colour were and still are being slaughtered by what white society somehow deems is a college education. An education which has no regards whatsoever for the needs and the attitudes of "Black Students" destroys the "Black Student" and the "Black Community."

The "Black Students" of the University of Texas at Arlington demand that this mental, psychological and social slaughtering cease now.

Editor's note: In a personal note attached to his statement, Smith noted that it is difficult to express in only a few words the effects of what has happened to him personally in his lifetime, to the Black People for the past 400 years and what has happened at this University for the past six years.

By Jeff Hensley
Student Congress President

Let's go back to the early part of last spring semester when the issue of the theme's offensiveness was first raised by a small group of Negroes and whites. At this time my reaction was very much the same as the one I have witnessed in many other people over the last nine or 10 months. I felt that a group representing a minority was raising altogether too much trouble over a small point.

One word can be used to sum up my initial attitude: Closed. But, gradually as I listened to the arguments against the flag and theme, I opened by mind. I became convinced the Confederate theme was sufficiently offensive to significant numbers of students to justify removal.

The most important consideration is the personal offense which the Confederate theme inflicts on the Negro student. Imagine yourself a Negro student, entering the Robert E. Lee Suite of the student center for the first time. As a Negro, what would be your reaction to the lovely couches in the suite? The ones with the portraits of Jackson and Lee in the upholstery. Look closer. In between the portraits of these fine gentlemen is another picture, one not so pretty. It's a Negro slave hoeing cotton in the field.

Okay, so perhaps 80 per cent of us white students agree that no ill feeling is intended in the Confederate theme. What does that assurance mean to the black man when he thinks about the theme?

DOES IT MEAN he can laugh off the fact that white students with black shoe polish on their faces were sold in slave auctions during the Old South celebrations as recently as four years ago?

Does this phrase bring to him a mental image of his great-great-grandfather pulling a bag of cotton between the rows? What do you think?

The following is a reprint of an article from the Feb. 28 Shorthorn, the campus newspaper.

"The Rebel theme is truly not a racist symbol, but we must realize it has become one in certain areas and to some students and faculty," Dr. Frank Harrison, acting president of UT Arlington, told the Student Congress.

Harrison said "I feel the American people do not always insist on majority rights but will listen to others and insist on sportsmanship and fair play."

Harrison said he would act in any way possible from an administrative standpoint, depending on the decision of congress pertaining to the theme.

BEFORE A packed gallery Harrison said, "The theme is a very divisive issue. It is not the type that over a long period of time, will solidify the activities of the campus.

"Although the referendum represents the majority, it does not measure intensity of feelings."

Speaking for both sides, Harrison said, "I would like to point out that the opposition has not presented an alternative. If this alternate decision comes from all the students, then it might replace the current theme."

Referring to the national connotations of the Rebel theme, Harrison said he believed the theme would eventually be phased out. "The time scale on phasing it out may take one, five or 50 years."

HE SAID the actions of both the protagonist and antagonist must be a democratic process, and neither should resort to overt action.

"I believe our image on the national level is hurt by the Rebel theme," said the acting president. "I know that it causes some problems in faculty and athletic recruiting."

Michael Jones is a junior math major from Ft. Worth. He was picked at random for his opinion. He has not been active on either side of the flag controversy.

I suppose my stand on the flag and theme issue is what most people would call the "neutral" or "fence-sitting" position. As for myself, I am not really very concerned about what theme or flag we have.

I don't think any of the various opinions expressed on it are entirely wrong, but I think we are all wrong to some extent in overemphasizing the flag and theme. I do not think that tradition alone is important enough to warrant keeping the flag and theme, nor do I think that the present "rebel" theme was specifically designed to discriminate against certain persons. It all depends upon the way one interprets it. A person can build up a persecution complex over almost anything if he develops a psychological hostility to it.

In short, I think our university's preeminence as a university should come first. This issue seems similar to parents' fighting over what to name their newborn son. Whether his name is "David" or "John" or "Cholmondeley Percival" really doesn't matter. It's his future and development as a responsible human being that matters most.

This university is sick to death. Sick of being branded a racist, bigoted, hate-infested institution all because of a single issue.

There is the anti-theme side. These are the students, black and white, who claim the Rebel theme is offensive.

SURELY THE theme should have been considered by these students before they decided upon UT Arlington and if they found it undesirable and a threat to their well-being, they should have reconsidered their choice of universities.

It is our belief that a great portion of these students did not decide until very recently that this university's theme offended them, mainly because they were told they should be offended, whether they were or not. Many, many students who could care less were beguiled or forced to take a stand which they did not necessarily agree with.

It is the white students, the self-appointed moralists who needed a band-wagon to jump on, who have made the most noise.

THE CIVIL WAR has quite wrongfully been placed in the center of this issue. It has been almost 104 years since the Civil War. The injustices of that war cannot be forgotten and they shouldn't be. They should be remembered as should any distasteful history so that the same mistakes might not be made again. What happened 104 years ago is neither the fault nor the responsibility of the students at UT Arlington, and when those students wave their flags, prejudice and the Civil War are not what they are upholding. You can't change the past by changing the present.

Don Taylor
Member, Student Congress

Today there are those who, through words and actions, speak of violence and bloodshed — of rights and humanity — of distinction and heritage.

So, there lies a Rebel within each man—an undying spirit that shall not cease to exist, nor die from oppression. Yet there must never be forgotten the rights of all concerned, for all cannot be right.

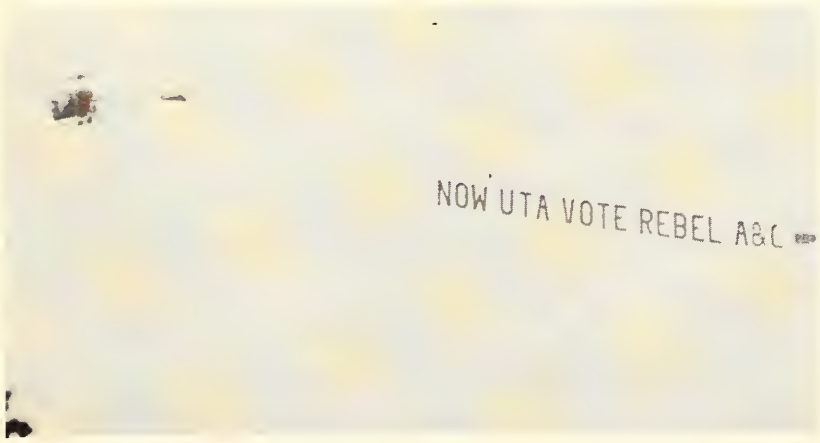
Those rights of self-determination must be protected, withstanding the pressures of demand and threat. For there is both a separate and united heritage for all men, a past that we must all one day learn from — undeniable and true.

There have grown from words, converse connotations of our Rebel heritage. Connotations change with the days, and history remains truth. The future shall always cleanse the past. Someday, upon reminiscing, the value of time-honored traditions will be realized.

Our heroic Confederate ancestors, who by their sacrifice perpetuated unto us and our descendants that heritage of valor and chivalry and honor shall not be forgotten, lest history be changed.

The Rebel theme and flag symbolizes in part a continual monument to the remembrance of the fighting spirit and integrity of these honored Rebels. Would we be any less a Rebel should we choose to fight for these principles we feel are right?

James Neal, a strong Rebel flag opponent, engages in an impromptu debate with students on referendum day.



Rebel flag boosters used a helicopter to advise voters.

Confederate battle flags appeared on sorority and fraternity tables in the student center the day of the referendum.

'Keep Rebel Theme' Shows Referendum

The largest student voter turn-out in the school's history was recorded in December as 4,497 students voted on the Rebel theme.

Results of the referendum showed that by a four-to-one margin, the voters wished to keep the Rebel theme. The referendum gave students a choice as to whether or not they wanted to keep the current theme and if not, they could choose from a lengthy list of alternate theme suggestions on the ballot. The referendum did not concern the Rebel flag. The flag was removed as the official school flag last summer as a result of a Student Congress bill.

According to a vote by Student Congress, the referendum results were to be sent to the UT Board of Regents who would have final jurisdiction as to whether or not the theme was retained or abolished. The results of the referendum were accompanied by a report compiled by Glenn Day discussing the various past actions concerning the theme of the student body and the congress and the different reactions of the press, faculty, administration and the students.

In early March the Student Congress received Day's report and sent it on to the various campus channels before sending it to the Regents.

The referendum and the controversy surrounding it saw the campus divided into two different factions, those who supported retaining the flag and theme and those who opposed both.

In March, a majority of those students who opposed the flag and theme, all of whom were black students, presented Acting UT Arlington President Frank Harrison with a list of 20 demands which included the initiation of special Black-oriented courses, the abolishment of the portraits of Robert E. Lee and other southern heroes in the student center and the ousting of the student center furniture which pictures Lee and slaves.

When the demands were not immediately met by the administration, a group of Negroes came on campus and removed the old South motif furniture from the Robert E. Lee Suite of the student center.

Following the incident, the Free University program began sponsoring a series of Black-White Dialogues in which both white and black students met to discuss and attempt to solve the problems of the situation.

North Texas Area Multiversity Proposed

Sporting a name that the new had yet to wear off, UT Arlington was faced with two more mergers in September. The Texas College and University Coordinating Board suggested UTA be taken from the UT system and combined with North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University, both in Denton, as one gigantic multiversity.

In 1965 the then Arlington State College was transferred from the Texas A and M system to the UT system. In 1967 in a realignment in the system, the school name was changed to the University of Texas at Arlington.

Under the present plan, each school would retain its own identity, president and administration. However, a central governing board would be set up to cover all functions of the urban commuter-type college.

The Coordinating Board cited an "indefensible deficiency" of doctoral graduates in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and a need for long-range planning as partial reasoning for recommending the tri-college system.

A student attending this extensive campus would be enrolled "at large" and could conceivably have classes on each of the three campuses.

The UT Board of Regents also presented a plan which called for a merger by UT Arlington — this time with the Southwestern Medical School and Southwest Center for Advanced Studies. This plan would unite UTA's expanding graduate and graduate programs already offered by these two facilities.

As of March, no action other than the presenting of the recommendations, had yet been taken by the Texas legislature.

However, a bill calling for the establishment of a UT at Dallas did receive the attention of the legislature. It calls for the inclusion of the Southwestern Center for Advanced Studies (SCAS) into the state system operating in its present status until 1975, when a four-year university would be added to the existing facilities.

In October several state representatives from Dallas, Fort Worth and Denton engaged in a panel discussion of the UTA campus in order to explain and debate the bill.

The Chambers of Commerce in Arington, Dallas and Fort Worth all approved the bill prior to its presentation to the legislature. The UTA faculty, in a special meeting, voted unanimously not to merge with the two other institutions or SCAS.

Board Sponsors Campus Activities

The Student Activities Board, nicknamed SAB, provides cultural, social and recreational programs designed to make free time on campus more enjoyable.

Using two dollars of the $21 activities service fee, SAB provides big name entertainment, movies, dances, parties, speakers and seminars. Some of this year's SAB-sponsored activities were the ski trip, homecoming festivities, the Snowball, Presidential Forum, fashion fair, exhibits, country of the year and the UTA birthday party.

Six activities councils work together to plan and coordinate activities. They are Leadership, Evaluation and Development (LEAD), Entertainment, Forums, Hospitality, House and Publicity.

The Board invites all fulltime students to join.

Playboy Magazine's Britt Fredrickson 1968 Playmate made an appearance at the SAB/Alpha Phi Omega sponsored Playboy Fashion Show.

Night club comedian Aaron Williams and his friend Freddy appeared at the Pat Paulsen concert during Fling '69.

Mariachi musicians The Baja Marimba Band performed in the fall.

A national young peoples' touring group, "Up with People!" made its second appearance in as many years at UT Arlington.

Television comic Pat Paulsen brought his famous brand of running comment on everything to the Fling '69 celebration, commemorating UT Arlington's second birthday.

Student Congress

The Student Congress of UT Arlington became one of the most active and powerful bodies on campus this year as it wielded its ruling powers to encompass a myriad of campus issues including the Rebel flag and theme controversy.

The group changed its name from Student Government to Student Congress this year and took a new and active part in governing the student body as it initiated several reforms.

The congress is composed of representatives from each of the four schools on campus, the inter-dormitory system, the inter-fraternity system, the inter-sorority system and the freshman class.

Several working committees study and recommend procedure on the many bills the congress introduces during its meetings. These committees are the academic affairs committee, the research, evaluation and development committee, the university finance committee, the grievances committee and the traffic and parking committee.

With the exception of the parliamentarian and the recording secretary offices, two different slates of officers have operated on the congress this year. President Jeff Hensley's resignation in the fall promoted vice president, James Livermore, to the president's chair, and elections were then conducted by the congress to select a new vice president and other officers which became vacant. Bill Saunders took Livermore's place as vice president and Art Seifert became treasurer with Charlie Dobbs as corresponding secretary. Gary Van Hemert remained parliamentarian and Jesse Hall, recording secretary.

Student Judicial Board

The Student Judicial Board was founded on the belief of a need for justice through peer-judgement. This new addition to the governmental structure of the student community is another step toward achieving student responsibility over student matters.

The Board, which has the jurisdiction to decide on several questions arising in a student community, often has the final say on such questions as a violation of University parking and traffic regulations, election rules, and related disputes. It exercises influence on all components of the University, providing a channel through which student concern and opinion can be expressed.

Constituent Council School of Business

The purpose of the School of Business Constituent Council is acquainting the school of business student body with student government. Through their representative to Student Congress, the Council voices their opinions and ideas. The 15 active members are headed by officers John Trapani, president; Larry Bogue, vice-president; and Janetta Choate, secretary-treasurer. Dean W. B. Nelson sponsors the Council.

Panhellenic Council

With the coming of national sororities to the UT Arlington campus, Panhellenic has gained in strength and effectiveness. UT Arlington now has five of the 26 National Panhellenic Conference members. NPC collegiates are Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Zeta, Phi Mu, and Zeta Tau Alpha. En Ami sorority is also a member of the campus Panhellenic.

The aims of NPC are expressed in the Panhellenic creed. "We, the undergraduate members of women's fraternities, stand for good scholarship, for guarding of good health, for maintenance of fine standards, and for serving, to the best of our ability, our college community. Co-operation for furthering fraternity life, in harmony with its best possibilities, is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities."

Panhellenic sponsored a fall and a spring rush which will be replaced next fall with pre-school rush. Working with IFC they participated in all Greek Week activities including the service project, Presentation Ball, Campus Canto and a reception for parents.

Panhellenic officers are Mary Jane McCarthy, president; Linda Atkins, vice president; Sharon Dyer, secretary; and Marilyn Boult, treasurer. Ruth Crary, Dean of Women, is sponsor of Panhellenic.

Interfraternity Council

Fraternal organizations contribute an essential factor to the direction of campus life and activities. The Interfraternity Council's purpose is to offer a common goal for the social fraternities on campus and to utilize the enormous resource of community efforts within them. The highlight of the year is the IFC sponsored "Greek Week" when all of the ideas are put into action. Four hundred campus men went through rush last fall.

As Assistant Dean of Student Life, Kent Gardner sponsors IFC. Membership is composed of representatives from each social fraternity on campus. Officers this year are Bruce Hutson, president; Bill Slusser, vice-president; Mark Smith, secretary; and John Stewart, treasurer.

Member fraternities of IFC are Delta Tau Delta, Delta Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta (Fiji), Kappa Alpha Order, Kappa Sigma, and Phi Delta Theta.

Alpha Chi Omega

Sans Souci, UTA's second oldest social club, pledged Alpha Chi Omega on November 17, 1968. The affiliation with the national women's fraternity ended the history of the local organization which began in 1923. In three months the colony pledges earned the 22 pearls for their lyre badges. Initiation weekend, February 14, 15 and 16, was highlighted by the presentation of the charter to the Epsilon Lambda chapter and its 29 charter members at the Carnation Banquet. Epsilon Lambda became the eighth chapter in Texas and the 111th in the United States.

Alpha Chis have an abundance of sweethearts. They are Lynn Petrelli, Delta Tau Delta; Marie Simmons, Phi Delta Theta; Georganne Spoon, Phi Gamma Delta; Judy Cagle, Alpha Phi Omega; Vicki Barker, ASCE; Toi Smith, ASCET and Linda Atkins, Kappa Sigma Starduster. Vicki Barker is a Rebel cheerleader. Linda Atkins, Miss Grand Prairie 1968, was chosen a UTA favorite. Debbie Bridge was first runner-up in the Miss Sweden Contest. Mickey McCoy is a featured twirler for the Rebel Band.

Epsilon Lambda alum Sharon Kay Terrill, is Miss California 1968, and Alum Terry Bennett is a Kappa Sigma Starduster.

During their colonization period the pledges entertained Phi Delta Theta with a party celebrating their chartering. Alpha Chi pledges gave an afternoon "Fratty Friend" party for sorority members and an Alum Big Sis-Little Sis party. At Christmastime the pledges of Alpha Chi entertained the children at the Arlington Country Day School. As Soucis they honored the new Dean of Women with a tea.

Delta Delta Delta

Les Choisies social club pledged the national women's sorority, Delta Delta Delta, on March 8. They are to be initiated this summer.

Sandra Griffin and Cindi Coulson serve as Rebel cheerleaders. Miss Griffin is also a Reveille Beauty, Kappa Sigma sweetheart, and Pecan Bowl Queen. Laceys Jan Owen and Linda Graves were chosen Reveille Beauties. Kathy Christal, Pam Sims and Sandra Gregg were elected UTA favorites.

The Laceys adopted a family at Christmas and on Valentine's Day hosted a party for the children at the Pantego School. They also donated money to purchase workbooks for the school. The fall pledges gave a party at Arlington Villa and adopted a Korean War orphan. Laceys also performed in the A Phi O Terrell Hospital Show.

Delta Zeta, colonized at UT Arlington on April 16, 1967, received their charter as the Iota Psi chapter on Nov. 11, 1967. They became the twelfth Chapter in Texas and one of 180 in the U.S.

At Halloween the DZ's trick-or-treated local alums for canned goods and clothes for the Navajo Indians. Iota Psi honored area alumnae at a Founder's Day Tea on October 24.

The Delta Zeta homecoming float won a first place in organization and a first place in theme. DZ's won the Phi Delta Theta Winter Olympics. Biff Ord, beauty candidate for A Phi O Beauty and Beast Contest, won first place.

Distinguished members are: Kay Huggins, treasurer of Alpha Chi; Sharon Dyer, Panhellenic secretary; Arla Jo Payne, Geology Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Delta Zeta is directed by Susie McNatt, president; Lynda Mayfield, vice president (rush); Elaine Pehkonen, vice president (pledge trainer); Martha Corboy, recording secretary; Jeanie Smith, corresponding secretary; and Jo Dora Baird, treasurer.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu, second oldest national women's fraternity, was the first National Panhellenic sorority established at UT Arlington. They were colonized on April 16, 1967, and became the Epsilon Zeta chapter at installation ceremonies on October 21, 1967. Phi Mu has three sister chapters in Texas and one colony. Nationally there are 107 Phi Mu chapters.

Phi Mu began the UTA Blood Bank for students and faculty and received state wide recognition for their "Bleed-In" idea. Phi Mu activities include a Founder's Day Banquet, Big-Little sister slumber party, a Carnation Banquet and the National Convention and leadership conference.

Cathie Wincovitch is president of Epsilon Zeta. Other officers are: Mary Ellen Gann, vice president; Terre Miner, secretary; Debbe Crayton, treasurer; Susan Franklin, membership director; Mary Ellen Nipp, pledge trainer and Martha Rodgers, Panhellenic delegate.

The Delts, as they are better known, participate in a wide range of activities. The biggest activity of the year is sponsoring the Campus Canto during Greek Week. This is a group singing contest held among the campus sororities and fraternities.

Delt honors include receiving the scholarship trophy every year it has been offered since 1963. Individual honors are numerous, including: Bob Crouch as beau of En Ami Sorority; Jim Wallace as UTA cheerleader; and James Livermore as president of Student Congress.

The honors of Delt Duchess go to Lynn Petrelli, with Jeir Mason and Jean McDade as her attendants.

Continuing a national tradition of community activities, the UTA chapter has expanded into local activities. The American Cancer Society always depends upon DU's help in its annual fund raising drive. Also, their improvement projects at Randall Mill Park have earned a citation from the Arlington Betterment Association.

On campus, Randy Hamilton receives honors as Phi Mu beau, and Mark Smith as the fall secretary of I.F.C. Honors are obtained on the athletic fields by Sam Martin in football, Mac Whiddon in tennis, and Rodney Wilson in bowling.

A well rounded social life is also enjoyed by the brothers. Everyone looks forward to the White Rose Formal, the Gringo Get-together, and the Texas-O.U. Weekend.

Fiji

Phi Gamma Delta was originally organized as an off campus social group known as Tri Chi. In 1967 Tri Chi was initiated as a colony of Phi Gamma Delta and received a national charter on August 25, 1968.

The Fijis, as they are commonly known, place a high value on campus and community projects. Each holiday season the Fijis enjoy a Christmas party and an Easter Egg Hunt with one of the sororities at the Lena Pope Orphans Home in Ft. Worth.

On campus they a take full advantage of the spring fever with the "Hat Grab" between the campus sororities. The semester is capped off with the Fiji Western Day and Rodeo in which all of the Greek fraternities and sororities compete for prizes.

Campus leadership is also a key to Fiji brotherhood. Dale Philips and Chris Gray are in Student Congress. Bruce Hutson is Interfraternity Council president and Scott Taylor serves as the school spirit symbol, "Johnny Reb." Cheerleader John Matheson cheers on his brothers Mike Baylor, Robert Overton, Charlie Soladay, Mike Stamps, David Wollenman and Walt Hammond in varsity sport events for the Rebels.

Kappa Alpha Order

Founded in 1865 at Washington and Lee College in Virginia, Kappa Alpha Order expanded to the U. T. Arlington campus on April 26, 1968 as the Delta Iota Chapter, with 16 charter members. Since then they have played an influential role in campus life.

The brothers participated in Greek Week activities last year when fellow Greeks performed community and campus services. The brothers were rewarded for their school spirit on campus with the Spirit Stick. This year the KA's will continue the Old South Week activities with games, and Old South Ball and an all-school dance.

Personalities on campus include Frank Taylor, weightlifting champion of the middle weight division, and varsity golfers Steve Burford, Gary Payne, Rusty Stricker, and Bob Greenwood.

Officers are Eric Anderson, president; Bob Greenwood, vice president; Jim Knox, treasurer; and Ralph Caraway, secretary.

Faculty sponsor is Kent Gardner.

Phi Delta Theta

The small group of Arlington State dormitory students who organized as Les Res Premiers, the First Kings, in 1961 probably never realized that their small brotherhood would, in just seven years, evolve into one of the most powerful and accomplished fraternities on campus.

The Les Res Premiers became known as Alpha Sigma Chi, or Alfasigs, and in December of 1968 affiliated with Phi Delta Theta, national fraternity.

Phi Doug Russell represented the U.S. in the world olympics this summer and won two gold medals. Weldon Grisham was captain of the Rebel football team. Dick Hill and Skip Butler were named to the All Southland Conference team. DeWayne Gray and Al Kraft are track captains.

Winter Olympics, a highlight of the fall semester, is sponsored by the Phis for the campus sororities. Community service is emphasized by supporting a Greek orphan child and by sponsoring a Christmas party for delinquents in the Dallas Detention Home.

Officers for 1968 are John Feik, president; Tom Schneider, vice-president; David Jackson, secretary; Leo Davis, treasurer; Barry Cremer, parliamentarian; Terry Gilbert, warden; and Weldon Grisham, chaplain.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma, originally founded in 1400 A.D., is looking forward to celebrating its 100th year in North America. The accomplishments of the Theta Omega chapter on our campus have followed years of tradition. National officers Willard F. Rockwell, Worthy Grand Master, and J. Robert Mahony, Executive Director, recently visited this chapter and deemed it the most progressive Kappa Sigma chapter in the Southwest. This honor has been earned through various campus and community activities.

In the community, the brothers gathered forces and spent a whole weekend moving the local Y.M.C.A. into their new building. On another occasion they cleaned the grounds at the Eastern Star home for the aged.

Participating in campus life are varsity athletics George Medland, Bill Saunders, Richard Prince, Don Jordan and Bret Malott. Other campus leaders include Bill Saunders in Student Government, John Stewart, president, S.A.B., and Robert Frazier as a Rebel Cheerleader.

Kappa Sigma excells in social life as well. Various parties such as the Founders Day Formal, pledge-active parties, the Hells Angels party, and a spring retreat to the Ozarks provide encouragement for the brothers throughout the year.

Officers are: Arthur Chavoya, Grand Master; John Meade, Grand Procurator; Jim Bennett, Grand Master of Ceremonies; Gary Newsom, Grand Scribe; and Monte McCormick, Grand Treasurer. Chena Gilstrap is faculty sponsor.

Stardusters

The Little Sisters of the Star and Crescent is a select group of women who have repeatedly shown their enthusiasm and willingness in working with Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The Little Sisters or "Stardusters", as they are sometimes called, were initiated Sept. 7. Their functions include aiding in Rush and serving as official hostesses for the lodge.

Among the titles held by the Stardusters are Miss UTA, Miss Dixie Bell, Miss Grand Prairie, Miss Pecan Bowl, president of Les Choisies sorority, two campus favorites and three Reveille Beauties. Sororities represented include Alpha Chi Omega, Les Choisies and Zeta Tau Alpha.

The president of the Little Sisters is Sandra Griffin, Kappa Sigma sweetheart.

Alpha Chi Recognizes Scholarship

Dr. Margaret Wiley performs installation services for this year's officers among whom are James Everett, Gary Van Hemert, and Dorothy Powell.

Alpha Chi, an honor society for juniors and seniors with a grade-point average of 2.5 or better, is designed to promote and recognize scholarship and those elements of character which make scholarship effective.

The organization, which is sponsored by Dr. Margaret Wiley of the English Department, hopes to help UT Arlington grow academically by having speakers on such subjects as foreign universities and various educational problems on this campus.

The motto of the club is "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Officers are James Everett, president; Gary Von Hemert, vice-president; Sharon Pannell, treasurer; Clista Hancock, recording secretary; and Dorothy Powell, corresponding secretary.

Campus Utilizes A Phi O Service

Theta Tau Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega received a national award in December for its work encompassing more than 5,000 hours of school and community service. The chapter was ranked 11th in the nation among schools with more than 10,000 students. UT Arlington officers traveled to the national convention in Washington, D. C. to receive the award.

They also received an armband and pin from Astronaut James Lovell which he wore on his flight around the moon. They are in the national Alpha Phi Omega headquarters at Kansas City, Mo.

Projects of the chapter included organizing variety shows which were presented at the Terrell State Hospital, maintaining a lost and found office, and serving as election workers during campus campaigns.

A Phi O members also sponsored a Foster Parents Day, the Beauty and the Beast Contest, a sports car rally and tutoring programs. Members served as ushers for the graduating exercises. Community service projects included sponsoring a Scoutorama and Boy Scout Sunday.

Although a service fraternity, A Phi O has a program of social functions including honors and pledge-active banquets and champagne rush parties.

The sponsors are Dr. Floyd Cash, Charly Harrell, Donald Majka, Col. Charles McDowell, Harry Meissner, Elwood Preiss, Fred C. Reagan and Dr. Allan Saxe.

Judy Cagle, fall semester sweetheart, was re-elected for the spring semester.

Alpha Phi Omega officers Lane Bradford, Larry Minter and Ron Brooks display the letter informing them that their chapter was ranked 11th in their school classification.

AIA Chapter Is Unique In Nation

In March, 1968, UT Arlington became the only school in the nation not offering an architecture degree program to be granted a charter by the American Institute of Architects Student Chapters.

The Arlington chapter hosted the Texas Regional Conference and sent representatives to the National Student Forum at the University of Michigan in November.

The chapter also participated an orientation program for high school students, sponsored a classical guitar concert by George Haddad and held a sidewalk art sale.

Membership is open to all architecture majors in good academic standing. The officers are William Drawbaugh, president; James O. Wright, vice-president and Don Wade, secretary-treasurer. R. B. Ferrier is the sponsor.

ASCE Attends State Meeting

Eighteen members of the UT Arlington chapter attended the state convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers in San Antonio in October. The delegation was the largest student chapter at the convention.

Monthly ASCE meetings featured guest speakers who talked on their respective specialties in the profession. The society selects a monthly sweetheart, with a sweetheart for the year chosen at the final meeting.

Membership is restricted to civil engineering majors of at least sophomore standing. There are 57 members.

ASCE officers are Maurice E. Worrell III, president; Robert Davis, vice-president; Joe Hill, secretary; and Ronnie Morrison, treasurer. Vicki Barker is the annual sweetheart.

ASME Offers Tutoring Aid

Industrial field trips and monthly meetings featuring lectures on technical fields were among the activities of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Members competed in the technical papers contest sponsored by the national organization of ASME and as a group participated in the "Outstanding Student Section" competition. An outstanding student from within the chapter is also named each year.

Members also operated a mechanical engineering tutoring clinic.

Membership is open to any student enrolled in an approved engineering curriculum in any engineering school. Endorsement by the faculty advisor is required.

ASME officers are Jose Arredondo, president; Michael L. Bullock, vice-chairman; Marie Moore, secretary and David J. Hurley, treasurer. Dr. C. C. Blackwell is the sponsor.

Student Helicopter Group First In Nation

The University of Texas at Arlington is the first university in the nation to have a student group sponsored by the national organization of the American Helicopter Society.

Each year the chapter is invited by Bell Helicopter Co. to a dinner and tour of the company's main assembly line during the fall semester. During the spring Bell sponsors a tour of its flight test center in Arlington and gives free rides in its Jet Ranger turbine helicopters.

The Society also invites industry representatives to speak on their technical fields. The chapter is open to all students.

Society president is Jack Tyler. Howard Hollinger is vice-president, Pat Allen is secretary and Jan Brumell is treasurer. Charles Coulter and Paul Buettiker are the sponsors.

CK UTA

Circle K members were active in the 1968 Presidential election both as a group and individually.

The organization sponsored a "Get-Out-The-Vote" project in November which included posters and signs urging students to participate in the election.

The international service group, which claims to be the largest college organization in the world, also contributed to the Goodfellows and the Good Samaritans Christmas charities. Members produced a set of color slides of the campus which were presented to UT Arlington Acting President Frank Harrison in February.

A week-long "Law and Order" program in May featured speakers from area law enforcement agencies.

Members sold programs at football games and supported the Rebel Club through contributions to two football scholarships. Circle K also worked as registration assistants.

Organization members attended a Texas-Oklahoma convention in Corpus Christi in April and an international convention in Portland, Oregon, in August.

Circle K sponsors are Harold Burman, Stephen Crumb, Elwood Preiss, Jack Russum and G. E. Smith. Bunny Hawkes is sweetheart.

Geologists Assemble Kits

Field trips to several states in the Southwest and to Oklahoma highlighted the activities of the Geological Society.

The club, which is open to all students studying or having an interest in geology, also holds meetings featuring guest speakers, assembles mineral kits which are sold to students and co-sponsors the Roy Stiff Memorial Scholarship.

Officers are Dennis Holler, president; Jim Richardson, vice-president; Sidney Smith, secretary; and Ronald Johnson, treasurer. Sponsor is Dr. Charles F. Dodge.

Geological Society members work on rock study kits to be sold to geology students.

History Club Offers Heritage Lectures

In addition to having speakers from the History Department, the History Club sponsored a series of guest lectures on Negro heritage.

The club, sponsored by Dr. George N. Green and Dr. Edward W. Chester, is designed to develop an interest in history in the student body and to promote a better understanding between the faculty and students.

Officers are Raymond DeBrooke, president; Eloise Raskin, vice-president; Karen Hall, secretary; William Van Hemert, treasurer; Rodney Wells, program chairman; and Sharon Pannell, publicity director.

Dances at Lipscomb Hall, a Christmas caroling party and a homecoming parade float were among the projects of the Inter-Dormitory Council, the student governing body for the four campus residence halls.

The council, sponsored by Jean Youngblood, strives to be aware of the dorm students' needs and to improve relationships between residence halls. Requirements for membership are a 1.0 grade average and one semester's residence in a dormitory.

Officers are Patricia Bradford, president; Eligio Dela-Cruz, vice-president; and Mary Ramsey, secretary.

Inter-dorm Council members from UT Arlington's four dorms discuss the problems of on campus living during weekly meetings.

Lights stay on late as Brazos House residents study for finals.

Brazos House

In addition to achieving their three-year goal of getting a new coke machine, Brazos Hall residents also have a new color television.

Several foreign students, including two from Hong Kong and two from the Canal Zone, reside at Brazos. Members participate in intramural sports and contribute toward the Interdormitory Council float in the homecoming parade.

Dormitory officers include James C. Skinner, president; John A. Morrow, vice-president; and Jay G. Steindorf, head resident. Members of the Board of Governors are Robert D. Johanson, Ronald E. Pyle, Charles D. Smith and John P. Uselton.

Trinity House

UT Arlington's newest men's dormitory, Trinity House, has air conditioned rooms for its occupants. There is space for housing 270 men.

An executive committee is elected to be responsible for the dorm's activities. Members are: Wayne Locke, president; Pat Murphy, vice-president; and Bob Simmons, secretary-treasurer.

Other than the executive council, a dorm council is elected to handle legislative and policy activities. These are Jimmy Amend, Bill Robertson, Ted Baron, Paul Cabness, Doug Jenkins, Craig Robinson, Gary Hatfield, Wendell Ward, Mike Cole, Gary Courtney, Mike Beissner, and Art James.

Trinity dorm living is diverse and includes such activities as inter-dorm and intermural sports and parties.

Suspended upper floors of Trinity House make ground floor recreation area possible.

Pachl Hall is located next to Trinity men's dormitory and Texas Hall. There is a sun deck on the second floor for residents wishing to study or just bask in the sun. For indoor people or on colder days, there is a lounge with color television, and card tables and a fireplace.

The Dorm Council consists of James Story, Mike Heel, Dave Griffis, Don Higgins, D. L. Fulbright, Barry Montgomery, Tom Stephens, Paul Gray and David Gleason.

Lipscomb Hall

Lipscomb Hall, located east of the campus, s divided into two wings by the snack bar, obby, entertainment room, and study hall.

The south wing including the lounge was he original dorm. In 1963 what is now the obby, the study hall and cafeteria were added long with the air-conditioned North Wing. The South Wing consists of suites housing our girls to a suite, whereas the North Wing has six girls to a suite. Total capacity of the dorm is 343 girls, with an apartment for Miss Jean Youngblood, resident counselor, and Miss Gertrude Waring, dorm mother.

The dorm sponsored several dances throughout the year, with a trick-or-treat open house on Halloween, an open house at Christmas, and a banquet for the parents of residents.

The dorm is governed by elected officers, who are: Eloise Raskin, president; Shirley Jo Martin, vice president; Cindy Miracle, secretary; Melody Cook, treasurer; and Barbara Edwards, reporter.

Lipscomb Hall, the only women's dorm on campus, houses 343 students.

Pi Sigma Has Sales Project

Pi Sigma Epsilon, a professional sales and marketing fraternity, is the oldest national fraternity at UT Arlington. Established here in 1962, it is sponsored by the Fort Worth Sales and Marketing Executives.

Fraternity members sold football spirit decals and mums for Homecoming. The fraternity's float was ranked as runner-up in beauty in the Homecoming Parade. The organization played in intramural athletics. Several dinners included programs with speakers discussing their respective fields of sales and marketing.

Pi Sigma Epsilon officers are Robert Gnuse, president; Bill Sexton, vice-president; Dennis Keating, treasurer; Rick Maxey, secretary; Doug Miller, marketing manager and Bill Quarles, sergeant-at-arms. The sweethearts are Jeri Mahan and Kathy Meyers. Pi Sigma Epsilon is sponsored by Dr. Wayne Lucas and Burley Walker.

Last year, the Rebel Ham Club expanded its operations so as to serve as a news transmitting network as well as a professional and service organization.

The Ham Club organized the Inter-Collegiate Communications Network, a service exchanging campus news with Texas A & M University, Milwaukee School of Engineering and the Pennsylvania School of Engineering.

The Club operates a campus-wide teletype network during registration periods. They also conduct classes to teach the international code to students working to qualify for the radio licenses.

Ham Club president is Eugene Preston. Joe D. Spradlin is the sponsor.

Rebel Rousers Build Bonfire

Organizing one of the largest bonfires in the history of UT Arlington was the main achievement of the Rebel Rousers spirit group.

The Rebel Rousers coordinated the collecting of bonfire materials by the Greek fraternities for the Homecoming Fire. Each week the group also used their Spirit Fire Truck, purchased last year from the city of Arlington, to promote enthusiasm at Rebel football games. Rebel Rousers also decorated the goal posts before the games.

During the winter, members served as timers at UT Arlington swim meets.

Rebel Rousers officers are Johnny Pechal, president; Denver Edmonds, vice-president; Karen Pollard, secretary and sweetheart and Pam Hollinger, reporter. Dr. Glen Terrell is the sponsor. Membership is open to any student.

Young Republicans Work In 1968 Election

Election-year campaigning highlighted the activities of Young Republicans. Members took part in canvassing for local, state and national candidates and local rallies.

The club, sponsored by Maurice Carlson, is open to all students subscribing to the principles of the Republican Party.

Officers are Ken Bledsoe, spring semester chairman; Craig Reid, fall semester chairman; Don Seilheimer, vice-chairman; Walt Christiansen, corresponding secretary; Katie Fegan, recording secretary; Wayne Fink, campaign chairman and photographer; Jim Knox, treasurer; and Mary Anne West, publicity.

Young Republican members spent much of their fall hours working in the national election campaign. Several helped with the successful campaign of Dallas County's Jim Collins in his bid for the Congressional seat once held by the late Joe Pool, a Democrat.

Sigma Delta Pi Sponsors Table

When Spanish language students finish their classes they often head straight for the Student Center — to talk Spanish.

The Zeta Alpha chapter of Sigma Delta Pi national Spanish honorary group, sponsors a table in the Student Center to stimulate interest in the Spanish culture and increased use of the language. According to Zeta Alpha president Jimmy Everett, Spanish students say that the informal discussions help them in using the language and provide an interesting way of exchanging ideas.

The honor group also presents speakers who talk on Spanish history and culture.

Membership is open to any student with a "B" grade average and an interest in the culture, literature and language of Spanish America and Spain. A member must have taken one advanced Spanish literature course.

Officers of Sigma Delta Pi are Everett, president; Jessie Gavia, vice-president; and Kathy Walker, secretary-treasurer. Weldon Litsey is the sponsor.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon Travels To Colorado

Dr. R. E. Clemons presents the Roy Stiff Memorial Scholarship to Ross Reinwald. The scholarship is in memory of the first geology graduate from UT Arlington.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon members worked in three ways to help students interested in geology.

The Beta Omega chapter of the honorary geological society manufactured rock study kits which are sold to freshman geology students. Members also gave introductory geology lectures to elementary school students.

The chapter contributes 50 per cent of the Roy Stiff Memorial Scholarship, awarded to an outstanding student in memory of the first geology graduate of UTA. Winner of the scholarship was Ross Reinwald.

Organization members participated in several field trips, including one to Colorado and Utah.

Membership requirements are a "B" average in geology and a "C+" overall grade average. A member must have completed 14 hours in geology.

Sponsor is Dr. Russel E. Clemons. Officers are Robert L. Meyer, president; John S. Garth, vice-president; Will Shepard, secretary; and Ross Reinwald, corresponding secretary.

Tau Beta Pi Grants Charter

Epsilon Nu Gamma became the Eta chapter of Tau Beta Pi in October, when the engineering honor society's national convention granted UT Arlington a charter.

An installation and chartering banquet was held in March. The mounting of the society emblem near the entrance of the Engineering Building was one of the group's projects.

When UT Arlington was granted a chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor fraternity, a competition was held among architecture students for a design for the base of the fraternity's four-foot tall, bronze symbol. Winner of the competition was David Philips, right, who is shown with Tau Beta Pi sponsor Dr. Jack Fitzer and president Jon Black.

Vaqueros Reorganize

An organization which died two years ago has come back to life.

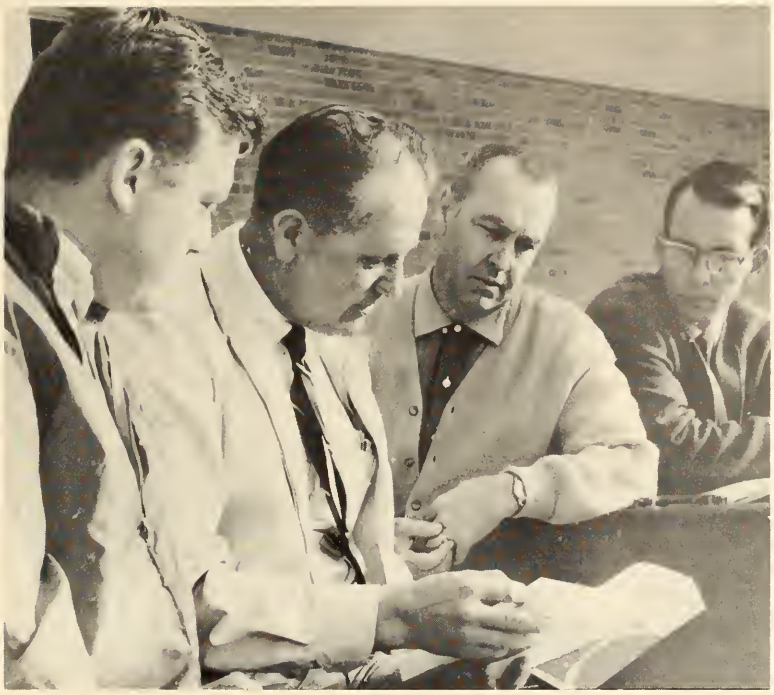
The Vaqueros, long ago one of the main campus spirit groups, became inactive after the 1966-67 school year. The group has now reorganized and plans to rebuild to its former size.

The Vaqueros started as the Rodeo Club in the early 1950's when then Arlington State Junior College was primarily an agricultural school. The coming of senior college status brought the end of the agriculture period and the Rodeo group reorganized and broadened its membership, taking on the name Vaqueros.

The Vaqueros sponsored the week-long Western Play Days, with students competing in games on campus and an off-campus rodeo. These events lasted in lessened form until about 1966, when the graduation of several Vaqueros left the group without strong leadership. The organization was revived this year by Larry Dunn and Clay Busby.

The Vaqueros hope to bring back on campus Roarin' Reb II, a spirit cannon which was fired at school events and football games. For several years the cannon team won the spirit award.

Vaqueros officers are Dennis Fluke, president; Larry Dunn, vice-president; Bitsy Phillips, recording secretary; Claudia McAfee, publicity secretary; Karen Pollard, corresponding secretary; and Paul Fehmel, sergeant at arms. The sponsors are Gay B. Turner and Bill Roark.



Veterans help fellow Veteran through a tutoring service. Aid is offered in every field of study at UT Arlington.

Veterans Offer Tutoring Aid

The Veterans Association, sponsored by Dr. Wayne Odom and Dr. W. J. Knox, is open to all veterans with one year of active service in the U.S. Armed Forces and an honorable discharge. The association provides assistance for ex-servicemen who are students at UTA by offering tutorial assistance and academic information.

The officers include: Victor Benton, president; Ken Rogers, vice-president; Bill Harris, secretary; and John Brumball III, treasurer.

Wesley Foundation Offers Diversity

The Wesley Foundation and Canterbury compose a community open to the university as a place of dialogue, service, study and recreation. Highlights of its program are Friday noon luncheons, credit religion courses, film series and a weekly coffee house named "The Belly of the Whale."

Steering committee members last fall were Glen Page, Evelyn Langston, Burnice Smith, Whatley Horton, George Ann Hintgen and Dennis Danvers. Father David Parker is the Episcopal Chaplain and the Reverend Dick Lord is the Methodist Campus Minister.

WSO Conducts Viet Toy Drive

The Women's Service organization is a service club designed to serve the needs of the University. The club, sponsored by Miss Francine Morris, is open to all second semester girls who have a desire to join. The club has sponsored a blanket-toy drive for an orphanage in Vietnam, participated in the APO Terrell Show, and has helped with registration.

The club officers are Sharon Pannell, president; Janet Hopkins, first vice-president; Pat Parker, second vice-president; Ginda Abraham, treasurer; Lonnie Chubb, recording secretary; and Marcia Perricone, corresponding secretary.

ROTC

CORPS LEARN LEADERSHIP

Colonel Eugene A. Shea — Professor of Military Science

Colonel Shea presents the Distinguished Military Student award to outstanding cadets: Cox, Bassham, Norman, Walker, Weir, and Hendrickson. Cadet Parker is also honored as the number one cadet from summer camp.

Cadet Colonel Ronald Hendrickson briefs company commanders before drill.

MILITARY BALL

The new corps sweeheart is presented with her roses.

Colonel and Mrs. Shea joined other figures of importance in greeting the guests at the Military Ball. All guests passed through the reception line.

Corps and Deputy Corps Sweethearts are selected by the entire ROTC Cadet Corps. This year the honors went to Miss Donna Price as Corps Sweetheart and Miss Cindy Sabatucci as Deputy Corps Sweetheart.

"A" Company Sweetheart Donna Price is escorted by Jerry Cox under the Jodies' crossed swords.

Insurgent Team Sweetheart Pat Cloughly helps pass out favors at the Ball to an ex-UTA student and his date.

Elizabeth and Quin Sheperd take a break from the dancing in the rose garden.

"C" Company sweetheart, Vicki Sheldon, helps the Jody sweetheart, Mary Locke, in adjusting her brass before Thursday's drill.

SWEETHEARTS

Sweethearts of the R.O.T.C. Corps are selected each year to represent the Corps in many of the functions in which the Corps participate during the year. The sweethearts serve for the whole year as official hostesses to the Cadet Corps. In October the sweetheart nominees are invited to attend a party where they meet with the Cadets of the N.C.O. and Officers Clubs. At this get-together the N.C.O.'s and officers have a chance to personally meet all the nominees and vote for the sweethearts they think would best represent ROTC.

The Cadet Corps has five sweethearts elected by the N.C.O. and Officers Club and five sweethearts are selected by the five individual teams. The sweethearts maintain the Corps scrapbook and attend both the Military Ball in December and the Corps Picnic in the Spring along with their many other duties.

PISTOL TEAM

Regaining the National ROTC Championship, which was lost to Ohio State last year, was the major goal of this year's pistol team.

To qualify for team membership, cadets must post a score of 265 out of 300 and shoot in one intercollegiate match. The team, which is sponsored by Sgt. Billy J. McRae, learns both conventional and Olympic-style shooting.

Rifle Team

Nineteen members of the University of Texas Marksmanship Training Unit spent two busy semesters stacking up winning trophies for their school. Major Hagan, the Officer in Command, and Dan Dawson, Team Captain, led the team to nine meets in the Fall semester, in which they won eight and came in second once, missing first by a meager three points. The major meets included the Central Texas Invitational, the Oklahoma State University Invitational, the Fourth Army Conference Match, and the UTAMTU Invitational. The Invitational sponsored by UTA was attended by thirty high schools and twelve colleges.

In the Spring the team attended the Fourth Army Championships, the Southwest Association Championships, the Fiesta Flambeau Invitational, and the NRA Sectionals. In these meets the UTA shooters use the best equipment available. Their rifle is the Anschutz which is custom made and imported from Germany, costing over $400. They also wear leather shooting jackets which cost in excess of $100. Their target has a bull which is .008 of an inch in diameter.

Sweetheart for the team was Jenny Baker, a Senior from Abilene. Lanny Bassham, also a Senior, brought the team much aid with his many individual honors. Bassham is a two year All-American, first place individual at OSU and UTAMTU, and high individual at CTI and the Fourth Army Conference Match.

Senior Rifle Team member Lanny Bassham displays some of the many trophies he has won during his years on the rifle team. Bassham has won the All American Award for the past two years.

INSURGENT TEAM

In its sixth year on campus, the Insurgent Team is composed of 13 members with 30 recruits. The Insurgent Team was principally organized for training instruction of individual small unit tactics and fundamental insurgency tactics. The IT marched in the Veteran's Day Parade in Ft. Worth and the UTA Arlington Homecoming Parade. They also went on an extended weekend problem to Ft. Wolters and had an opportunity to fire the M-14 Rifle. The IT is very proud to have Miss Pat Cloughly as their Team Sweetheart.

Insurgent Team members, following many hours of instruction, preparation, and practice, make use of their developed skills by repelling an attack.

SAM HOUSTON RIFLES

The Sam Houston Rifles, now in their 36th year on campus, is distinguished by its black and gold cord and white accessories. In the past 36 years, the "Jodies" have won 204 of 209 competitions. The Rifles added two of these first places last year with wins at Laredo and San Antonio. The "Jodies" participated in competitions at Houston; Champaign, Illinois; Laredo; College Station and San Antonio. The "Jodies" sponsor the Fourth Army High School Drill Competition and participate in several parades during the year. The Cadre sponsor of the Jodies is Lt. Col. Eugene A. Shea.

Lab Band Devoted To Musical Careers

The Lab Band is composed of 24 students with a deep devotion to a musical career. As a group they perform for numerous organizations in the Southwest. Some of their performances include the National Security Seminar, sponsored by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, the North Texas Council of Governments, and the Junior Achievement Association of Dallas County. Donations from each performance are applied to a scholarship program for the whole group.

The Lab Band is composed of outstanding individuals of their own right. Rafel Rodriquiez, Jose Prado, Robert Houston and Moe Molina compose the nationally famous "Music Makers El Dorado". Ernest Voyles is assistant band director at the Six Flags Park. Most of the members are affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians. Membership in the Lab Band is attained through audition.

The success of the Lab Band may be attributed to its director, Dan Burkholder. Burkholder directs his own orchestra for such celebrities as Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Rowan and Martin, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme.

Lab Band members spend hours in rehearsal for one of their many performances throughout the Southwest.

Membership in the Lab Band is obtained through auditions.

Dan Burkholder's orchestra has performed for many celebrities, including Bob Hope.

Marching And Concert Band Activities Numerous

Sigmund Rascher, the noted saxophonist, performed with the Concert Band, March 18. Rascher has performed in 49 states and with symphonies all over the world.

Jack Mahan, director of bands, is assisted by William Postlewaite, associate director, in leading the marching and concert bands. Postlewaite also works closely with the percussion section. James Mahoney, woodwinds director; Wesley Flinn, performance director; and Dr. Lloyd Tolver, theory and literature of music director work with smaller band sections. When piano accompaniment or training is required, Zoe Hess and Jo Boatwright also work with the band.

The band is divided into four groups which play alternately at football and basketball games, swim meets, and pep rallies. The marching band for football games has 123 members. Head drum major is Johnny Carr. Assistants are Milton Strong and Dawson Smith.

Jack Mahan, director, discusses the score before beginning.

The Marching Band plays in the stands, as well as on the field at football games.

Concert Band members consist of out-of-season marchers.

On the field, the Marching Band stimulates school spirit.

Robert Luke, with his trombone, awaits downbeat which will send the Marching Band onto the football field.

Charlotte Groce, as a member of the percussion section, lends accent to the Concert Band music.

University Theater Students Produce Plays

The University Theatre group consists of students interested in all facets of theatre. Students producing plays are usually enrolled in one of two classes for credit. These classes are taught by Mary Lou Hoyle and Richard Slaughter, who are also the directors for the University Theatre productions.

To begin the fall semester the group put on two plays, "A Lion in Winter," and "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George Kauffman. Mary Lou Hoyle directed "A Lion in Winter" while Richard Slaughter coordinated the student committees consisting of lights, sound and special effects, scenery, props, house and tickets, costumes, and publicity. The students design scenery, costumes, and lighting.

In the spring, the group produced Gene McKinney's "A Different Drummer"; and Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth."

A family argument erupts between Henry II (Kerry Newcomb), Richard (Worth Howe) and Eleanor of Aquitaine (Cheryl Ford) while Alais (Shelia Oliver) observes the strife in "Lion in Winter."

Members of the Townspeople Chorus rehearse for the town council scene in "A Different Drummer."

Miss Gresham, played by Dona LaGrone in "A Different Drummer", tries to show a chart illustrating the growth of Hope Springs.

The Townspeople Chorus in "A Different Drummer" gets in character for a hubbub scene.

Henry II and Eleanor perform a scene which begins violently, mellows to nostalgia, then flares again into violence.

Choirs Present Concert Music

Both the A Cappella Choir and the Holiday Singers, a specialized group selected from the A Cappella Choir, are directed by Gary Ebensberger.

The Choirs' concert season included a tour in Austin in April. They also stopped in Corpus Christi to perform for several area high schools.

A Cappella and Holiday Singers Spring and Christmas concerts included a variety of sacred and secular music. The Christmas concert was assisted by the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra and members of the UTA faculty.

The Holiday Singers are chosen by audition from the A Cappella Choir. They perform at banquets and various other activities throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Many choir members perform professionally off-campus. Linda McCaskill, Gary Noble, Victor Michels, and Marc Emmick have performed at Six Flags. Johnny McNellie and Doug Beard were a part of the American Airlines Sky Chef Show.

Bunny Hawkes has been the choir accompanist for the last three years.

Betty Brewster joins A Cappella Choir members in formal concert.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR. FRONT ROW: Brewster, Anderson, Allen, Williams, Couch, Jacobs, Lunday, Qualls, Barnett, Shumpert, Caffey, Gary Ebensberger, director. Russell Wins Gold In Mexico Olympics

A Rebel swimmer has achieved the ultimate in athletics.

Doug Russell, a junior from Midland, won two gold medals in the Olympics in Mexico City in October. The lanky, blond tanker set a record in the 100-meter butterfly, then went on to salvage an American victory in the 400-meter medley relay. He was the first native Texan to win Olympic gold in swimming.

Russell swam the butterfly in 55.9 seconds, an Olympic record, and defeated highly favored Mark Spitz. Russell's record was only three tenths of a second off the world record Spitz set at the U. S. Olympic trials, where Spitz nosed out Russell.

Russell broke both his and Spitz's record when he swam the butterfly in 49.3 in a special exhibition at Southern Methodist University, February 26.

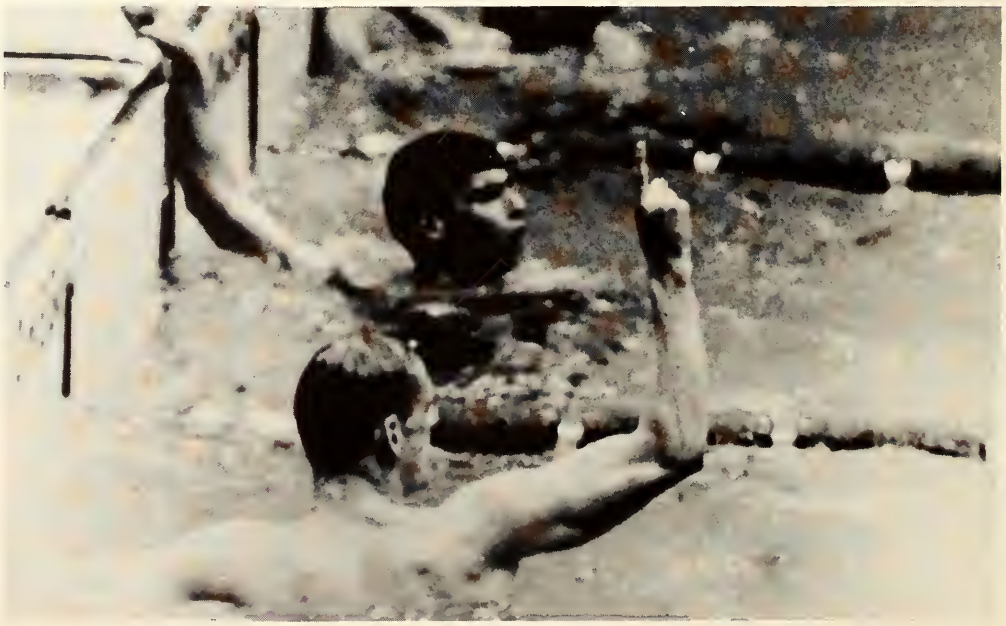
Russell turned a two-yard American deficit in the medley relay into a yard-and-a-half lead for anchorman Ken Walsh.

Russell, who has competed for the Rebels three years, was red shirted this year. He will compete for Arlington in 1969-70.

Russell has held or shared in three world records. In NCAA competition for the Rebels he had won or shared nine national championships and holds five NCAA records. He has won 18 All-American awards. He took two gold medals and as many meet records in the 1967 Pan American games, capturing the 200-meter individual medley and swimming a leg on the medley relay.

Doug Russell, a Midland native, won two gold medals in the 1968 Olympics for swimming.

Rebel swimmer Doug Russell acknowledges the first place he has won the 100-meter butterfly as a thoroughly upset Mark Spitz grimmaces in surprise. Spitz was heavily favored to win the race.



Doug Russell reflects on the events at Mexico City while listening to praise at a special Russell Day Program. Russell gave his own account of his victory to the audience. Mrs. Betty Jane Russell applauds her son. Mrs. Russell taught Doug to swim.

Russell and his coach, Don Easterling, check Russell's time at the Rebel pool. Easterling described Russell as "one of the three best all-around swimmers in the world."

Easterling Big Part Of Russell Success

Doug Russell signed a swimming letter of intent with then Arlington State College without ever visiting the campus.

"I guess it was not the wise thing to do, signing without ever seeing the school or even being in Arlington," admits Russell. "But it is a great institution and I've never regretted signing."

Russell feels that much of his success in the Olympics was due to his coach, Don Easterling, and Easterling's "national thinking."

"Most of the swimming coaches point toward the state meet. Coach Easterling doesn't get upset if we fail to do well in the state meet. He would much rather we made the NCAA or AAU finals. That means you are among the top eight swimmers in the country in that event."

Russell feels his victory was the biggest of his career because "for the first time in Coach Easterling's life he was satisfied with one of his swimmers.

"When he's working with us, he walks up and down the pool. He'll grudgingly say 'good' if he's pleased, but most of the time he chews on you when you mess up."

Easterling says that Russell's victory over Mark Spitz was no fluke.

"He didn't upset him—he beat him," says Easterling. "I've never seen a young man so confident. Doug just believed that he was the best butterflier in the world. And once he made that team, he had one thing in mind: To win that gold medal."

"You take your top swimmers, let 'em go 100 and 200 yards in every stroke and then count points. Doug will be right in there."

Football

Rebel co-captains are senior quarterback Mike Baylor and senior tackle Weldon Grisham. Baylor and Grisham both received All-Southland Conference honorable mention.

Close One Costs Rebels SLC Title

UTA Head Coach Burley Bearden said before the football season that his club would be improved over the 1967 squad which compiled a 9-1 record and a Pecan Bowl victory. But Bearden also said his team might not go 9-1 again because of the tough schedule.

He was right on both counts. The Rebels were improved all right, but finished 6-4 and took second place in the Southland Conference. Last year the Rebs won the close ones, taking five games by a total of eight points and three by a single counter.

But this year was a reversal. UTA lost three games by a total of seven points and lost another by a wide margin to powerful West Texas State.

Second-ranked San Diego State nipped UTA, 23-18, to open the season, then the Rebs whipped Northeast Louisiana 24-14, and lost to New Mexico State, 21-20.

UTA won the next four of five — beating East Texas State, McNeese State of Louisiana and Trinity while losing to West Texas State.

Thus the SLC title was on the line against Arkansas State, but the Confederates bowed, 22-21. An easy but meaningless 37-20 win over winless Lamar Tech was the season's finale.

UT Arlington grid mentors include Charlie Key, trainer Bobby Lane, Head Coach Burley Bearden, Charlie Qualls and Judd Ramsey. Bearden has compiled a 22-9 record since he became head coach in 1966.

No. 1 Aztecs Trip UTA, 23-18

Defensive back Jim Marcum (42) intercepts San Diego aerial which set up UTA touchdown as Charlie Soladay (26) turns around to block.

Jimmy Thomas and Skipper Butler staked UT Arlington to a pulsating 18-17 lead late in the game, but top-rated San Diego State rallied for a touchdown with 1:22 left to nip the Rebels, 23-18, in the season opener at San Diego Stadium.

The Aztecs, rated tops in the small college polls in pre-season, still had to fight off the scrappy Rebs after they scored their final TD. Mike Baylor's fourth down pass intended for Dick Hill was intercepted at the one with :24 showing.

Baylor had hooked up with end Thomas for a pair of touchdowns, and Butler had kicked an unbelievable 51-yard field goal to keep UT Arlington in the game all the way.

The first scoring aerial came in the opening moments when Baylor found Thomas at the Reb 31. The Arlington speedster eluded SDSC defensive back Clancy Oliver and took off down the far side line for a 69-yard tally. Butler's PAT made it 7-0 with 7:17 left in the first.

The Aztecs came back with 17 points in the second period, however, to put the game seemingly out of reach. Oliver intercepted a Baylor pass and returned it 28 yards for a score with 12:59 left in the half.

Then Dick Wood booted a 35-yard field goal to put SDSC in front 10-7. With :38 left in the half, fullback Lloyd Edwards scored from the two making it 17-7.

Sophomore Tommy Davis (62) prepares to provide blocking which aids Mike Baylor (10) in a huge gain, getting UTA out of a hole against the Aztecs.

Dick Hill makes a spectacular catch of Ronnie Faulkner's pass for a 13-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter against Northeast Louisiana.

Northeast Louisiana line finally smothers Reb's Danny Griffin after six yard gain in 24-14 win.

Rebels Power Past NE La.

Junior Ronnie Faulkner sparked UT Arlington to two fourth quarter touchdowns as the Rebels scalped Northeast Louisiana State, 24-14, September 21 at Memorial Stadium.

Head Coach Burley Bearden kept his home record slate unblemished as the Rebs came within two minutes of shutting out the Indians.

With UT Arlington leading 24-0, Indian halfback Joe Profit rambled 71 yards for a touchdown and Al Miller took an 8-yard TD toss from quarterback Steve Mansur with only :05 showing on the clock to cut the deficit to 24-14.

Faulkner spelled Mike Baylor with :14 left in the third quarter and drove the sluggish Rebels to a pair of scores, one on a 13-yard pass to Dick Hill, the other on an 18-yard aerial to Jimmy Thomas.

Skipper Butler, who converted after all three touchdowns, also added a 45-yard field goal which gave Arlington a quick 3-0 lead in the first quarter.

In the second, Baylor moved the score to 10-0 when he connected with Hill for a 5-yard tally.

Northeast Louisiana took advantage of the substitutes inserted by the Rebs in the final moments of the game and marched to two TDs, keeping the score respectable.

Aggies Nip UTA

New Mexico State choked off a UT Arlington rally in the waning moments to take a 21-20 victory at Las Cruces, New Mexico, September 28.

Arlington had taken a 20-14 lead in the third quarter on a 34-yard pass interception run by linebacker Billy Stewart, but NMSU came back and took over the lead for keeps on a 26-yard aerial from quarterback Loy Hayes to end Ralph Lavage.

The Aggies scored first on a 16-yard pass from Hayes to Howard Taylor at 6:01 of the first quarter. Ron James, who rushed for 110 yards, kicked the point to make it 7-0.

Rebel kicker Skipper Butler cut the lead to 7-3 with a 30-yard field goal midway in the second quarter. But the Aggies took the ensuing kickoff and came right back, scoring on a four-yard gallop by James.

The Rebels made it 14-10 when NMSU's Lynn Martin bobbled a Butler punt; Jimmy Thomas picked it off in mid-air and sped 43 yards for an easy touchdown.

Butler put UT Arlington closer at 14-13 when he kicked a 38-yard field goal with 7:25 left in the third quarter. Five minutes later Stewart made his interception return and the Rebels temporarily controlled the game.

Hayes hooked up with Lavage for the go-ahead points, and Peterson stifled the remaining Rebel hopes with his interception.

Records Broken in Reb Routing of ET

Kicking ace Skipper Butler boomed a 60-yard field goal, second longest in modern football history, and quarterback Mike Baylor and end Jimmy Thomas rewrote some record books themselves as the Rebels rallied to whip East Texas State, 41-30 October 5 at Memorial Stadium.

Baylor threw 22 strikes in 38 attempts for 374 yards and three touchdowns; Thomas speared six of the tosses for 219 yards and a TD.

UTA had to make a fantastic comeback to ice the win. The underdog Lions jumped to a 13-0 lead on a five yard keeper by quarterback Benny Kirkland to end Richard Houston.

East Texas scored again in the first quarter on a 28-yard strike from Kirkland to Tom Black, after UTA's Butler had kicked a 45-yard field goal.

Butler cut the UTA deficit to 20-16 in the second period with field goals of 60 and 40.

Arlington dominated the second half. Baylor's TD passes to Mike Buchanan and Dick Hill gave the Rebels a slim 29-27 lead, but Mark Regian's 27-yard FG put the Lions back out front, 30-27 at the end of three quarters.

The Rebs iced the game in the fourth when Monty Tolleson blocked Jim Dietz's punt in the end zone for a safety and Thomas caught a 54-yard scoring pass from Baylor. Butler's PAT made it 41-30.

UT Arlington's fullback Danny Griffin gained 172 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns as the Rebels broke open a halftime deadlock in the second half for an easy 46-21 victory over McNeese State, October 12, at Memorial Stadium.

McNeese took a 7-0 lead in the initial quarter when quarterback Ricky Miller skipped 46 yards for a score on a keeper. Wayne LaGrappe kicked the extra point.

The Rebs scored their first touchdown on a 71-yard drive in seven plays, capped by Griffin's two yard plunge. Butler booted the first of five extra points.

UT Arlington made it 14-7 with 6:56 in the first quarter on an 11-yard end around by Jimmy Thomas and hiked the lead to 21-7 when Griffin plunged one yard early in the second quarter. McNeese battled back to tie on a pair of one-yard runs by Larry Grissom and Carol Breaux. LaGrappe kicked the PATs.

The Rebs broke the game open in the second half on a seven-yard run by Tim Christy, a 10-yard pass to Thomas from quarterback Mike Baylor, Butler's 41-yard field goal, a safety and Don Jordan's two-yard sprint to paydirt.

Buffalos Stampede Over Rebs, 41-0

UT Arlington's high-geared offense broke down at Canyon, October 19, and powerful West Texas State took advantage of the stunned Rebels, 41-0.

Not since 1965 have the Rebels been blanked and the loss was even more upsetting because the Reb offense has accumulated 87 points in its last two outings.

WTSU's Clarence Redic kicked a 27-yard field goal which gave the Buffs a 3-0 lead at the half. Reb linebacker Jim Sheridan recovered a fumble at the UT Arlington's one in the opening quarter, preventing the hosts from crossing the goal.

Halfback Albie Owens sprinted nine yards for a TD and Redic added a 41-yard effort in the third quarter to give WTSU a 13-0 lead at the end of the third. Three Ronnie Faulkner interceptions, including the 40-yard touchdown return of one by Carl Heilman, helped the Buffs to a 28-point last quarter.

The Buffs candidate for All-American honors, Eugene "Mercury" Morris was devastating the second half after getting only six yards in the first two quarters. Morris, the nation's leading rusher going into the fray, ran for 126 yards on 25 carries and raced 45 yards for a tally in the fourth quarter.

Danny Griffin rushed for 196 yards as the University of Texas at Arlington notched its opening Southland Conference win, 27-14, over Trinity University, Oct. 25, at Memorial Stadium.

Griffin carried 29 times, scoring on touchdown gallops of one and 46 yards to pace UTA to its fourth season win against three losses.

The scoring began as Griffin plunged one yard, for a 7-0 lead, which capped a 52-yard drive. Skipper Butler kicked the first of three extra points.

Defensive tackle Ronnie Callaway recovered a fumble at the Tiger nine at the end of the first quarter setting up the second Reb touchdown. Three plays later quarterback Mike Baylor sneaked in from the two to make it 14-0.

Butler booted a 41-yard field goal before Trinity marched 61 yards in eight plays for its first TD. Halfback David Steffano stepped the final yard to cut the Reb lead to 17-7 at halftime.

Butler added a 25-yard field goal to give the Rebs a 20-7 bulge, but Trinity signal-caller Ronnie Carpenter scored from the three with 3:44 left in the game to make it 20-14.

Griffin sprinted 46 yards for a TD and Butler kicked the PAT for the final UTA points with 2:25 left in the game.

Rebs Down ACC 30-20 In Quarterback Duel

Rebels' Skipper Butler boots field goal in 30-20 over Abilene Christian.

UTA overcame a brisk West Texas wind in 41 degree weather and an early Abilene Christian lead to throttle the Wildcats 30-20 Nov. 9 at Abilene's Shotwell Stadium.

The victory gave the Rebels a 2-0 mark in Southland Conference play.

ACC opened with a pair of first quarter field goals of 26 and 38 yards by Bob Bearden for a 6-0 lead. UTA drove 90 yards in 10 plays, with Tim Christy going over from eight yards for the score.

Skipper Butler's kick gave UTA a 7-6 lead.

With one second left in the third quarter, ACC took the lead on a 16 yard pass from Jim Lindsey to Bill Lockey, who in turn, lateraled to split end Johnny Hughes for the remaining 37 yards and a touchdown. Bearden's point after made it 13-7.

Quarterback Mike Baylor scored on a 2-yard run and Butler tacked on a 27-yard field goal to give UTA a 17-13 lead at half.

The Rebs put the game away in the second half on touchdown passes from Baylor to Jimmy Thomas and Ronnie Lucas.

Trailing 30-13, ACC cut the final count to 30-20 on a 38-yard aerial strike from Lindsey to David Wallace.

Indians Crush Title Chances

Arkansas State nipped the University of Texas at Arlington, 22-21, Nov. 16 at Memorial Statium to capture the Southland Conference title.

Trailing 21-14, the Indians staged their winning drive with 7:22 remaining in the game. Tailback Frank McGuigan, who also scored ASU's first touchdown on a two-yard run in the second quarter, went in from the six this time and also ran the two-point conversion for the 22-21 lead with 3:01 left.

The Indians jumped out to a 14-7 lead in the third quarter on an eight-yard pass from McGuigan to Tom Johnson but Butler whittled the deficit to 14-13 with a pair of field goals from 28 and 54 yards out.

UTA went ahead 21-14 with 11:43 left in the game on a seven yard burst up the middle by Griffin, and Mike Baylor's two-point conversion pass to wingback Mike Buchanan.

Rebels Defeat Winless Lamar

Spurting to a quick 16-0 lead, UTA coasted to an easy 37-20 win over hapless Lamar Tech at Beaumont, Nov. 23, in the season finale.

Quarterback Ronnie Faulkner passed the Rebels to their sixth win of the year by hitting 11 of 19 passes for 179 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Kicking specialist Skipper Butler got UTA off to a flying start by booting a 53-yard field goal two minutes deep in the game.

Tailback Jerry Massey's five yard TD run and a 20-yard scoring toss from Faulkner to end Jimmy Thomas highlighted the Rebs' first quarter outburst.

Lamar Tech tailback Doug Carter sprinted five yards for a touchdown, cutting the count to 16-6 at half.

But UTA starting quarterback Mike Baylor went over from the eight early in the third quarter and fullback Danny Griffin's three-yard gallop hiked the Reb lead to 30-6.

Arthur Hobbs snagged a 12-yard TD pass from Faulkner with 13:14 left for a 37-6 bulge, before Lamar Tech managed a couple of tallies in the final nine minutes.

Rebels Post 8-18 Season Cage Mark

Coach Barry Dowd's Rebel cagers finished their first season as a major college team with an 8-18 overall mark and a tie for third in the Southland Conference.

The season's biggest victory came Feb. 3 at Texas Hall when UT Arlington surprised Lamar Tech's Cardinals, who at the time had rolled up 15 straight victories and the top spot in the college division polls.

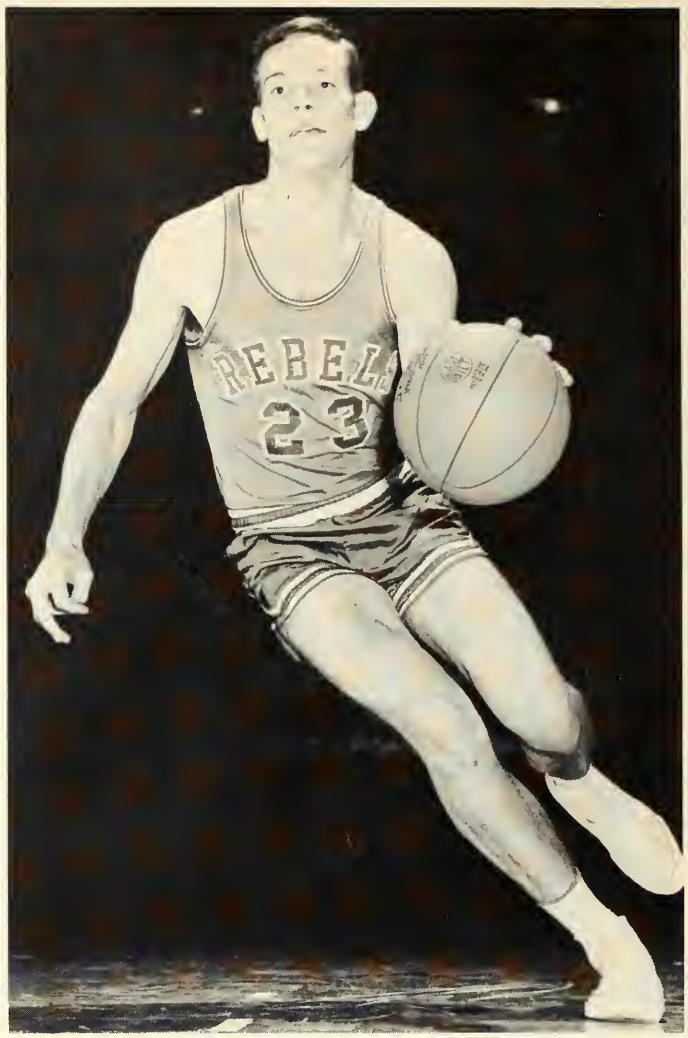
The Rebels, who had lost 15 straight on the road, finished the season with a Southland Conference win over Abilene Christian at Abilene, pushing the Rebs' final SLC record to 3-5.

Seniors Gene Wilson and John Shelton finished among Arlington's all-time top-ten scorers. Shelton nabbed the second spot in the record book with 1,048 points in a four-year varsity stint and Wilson placed sixth with 844 over three seasons.

Junior Eddie Stallings, who sat out three tilts with illness, tallied 482 points for a 21.0 average and came within 45 points of the school career scoring record of 1,052.

The season saw UT Arlington fall to several major colleges, including the University of Houston, Bradley, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Virginia Tech, Richmond and Memphis State.

The Rebels picked up victories over Sam Houston State, Texas Wesleyan, Missouri-Rolla, Angelo State, Dallas Baptist, Lamar Tech, Arkansas State and Abilene Christian.



Rebel forward Eddie Stallings was named to the All-Southland Conference team. David Payne was given honorable mention.

Rebel coach Barry Dowd grimmaces, then shows disgust over floor action in Rebs' at-home loss to Abilene Christian. Dowd's crew finished with a 8-18 record in their first major college season.

Rebels Split Pair With ASU's Indians

Gene Wilson scored 22 points to lead UT Arlington to an 83-80 victory over Arkansas State Feb. 10 at Texas Hall, thus giving the Rebels a split in the series.

ASU capitalized on a last second shot by Mike Wise to secure a narrow 83-81 win over the Rebs Feb. 17 in Jonesboro, Ark.

In the Feb. 10 win Wilson was aided by David Wollenman's 21 counters, while Bob Peek and Eddie Stallings chipped in with 13 and 10 points respectively.

Stallings meshed 26 points at Jonesboro, but it proved fruitless in the SLC affair. Herman Jones finished with 15 points in the game and Bob Peek added 14 in the losing cause.

David Payne scores from the outside in the Rebels' 83-80 defeat of Arkansas State at Texas Hall.

Gene Wilson (40) twists for a shot against Arkansas State's Indians. Wilson lead the Rebels in rebounds for the season.

High Ranked Trinity Hands Rebs Two Losses

Trinity's Tigers, Southland Conference kingpin with a 19-4 overall mark, nipped UT Arlington twice in 1968-69.

Trinity whipped the Rebels, 79-72, Jan. 11 in San Antonio, despite the 31-point output of the Rebs' Eddie Stallings.

Then the Tigers felled UTA, 103-99, Feb. 1 at Texas Hall — even though Stallings again had a tremendous game by scoring 36 points.

In the game at San Antonio, John Shelton limited the Tigers' great Larry Jeffries to a mere 10 points, but Jeffries netted 31 points in the win at Arlington.

David Wollenman and Herman Jones reached double figures in the loss at San Antonio, with Wollenman getting 13 and Jones 11.

At Arlington, Gene Wilson netted 20, John Shelton 19 and David Payne 14 to bolster Stallings' performance.

Trinity scoring-great Larry Jeffries stretches to block shot by Bob Peek. Jeffries was held to ten points in the Tigers' battle with Arlington in San Antonio.

Trinity's Larry Jeffries (25) Gene Wilson and Bob Peek scramble for a loose ball in the Rebs' 103-99 loss to the SLC champions.

Rebels Upset First Ranked Lamar Tech

UT Arlington split the series with Lamar Tech, losing 87-67 Jan. 6 at Beaumont, but upsetting the surprised Cardinals, 76-71 at Texas Hall Feb. 3.

In the first game at Beaumont, Herman Jones earned high point honors with 22, but the Cards held Eddie Stallings to 11 points and connected on 88 per cent from the free throw line to capture the victory.

At Arlington, however, the Rebels registered a 76-71 verdict over highly-regarded Lamar Tech — only one of four setbacks the Redbirds suffered all season long.

Stallings' 29 points paced the Reb win in which all five UTA starters played the entire game. David Payne had 16, Gene Wilson 15, John Shelton 12 and Bob Peek four points in the victory.

Rebels Beat ACC In Season Finale

UT Arlington ended the season Feb. 26 with an 89-81 triumph over Abilene Christian at Abilene — just four days after the Wildcats had defeated the Rebels in Texas Hall, 83-75.

Senior tri-captain Gene Wilson closed out his career at Abilene by scoring a personal high of 29 points. Bob Peek contributed scoring punch with 15 points and John Shelton ended his college career by garnering 14.

ACC dumped the Rebs Feb. 22 at Arlington — although Eddie Stallings had 23 points and John Shelton netted 16.

The win at Abilene assured the Rebs of a tie for third place in the SLC with Arkansas State.

David Payne (10) blocks a shot by Abilene Christian. Arlington split a pair with ACC.

Track

Reb Track Fortunes Improved In 1969

UT Arlington opened the 1969 track season on a good note, whipping Stephen F. Austin and East Texas State in a triangular meet at Sulphur Springs. It was the first meet in four years the Rebels had won.

Captains for the strong team were DeeWayne Gray, Al Kraft and Eddie Anderson, all former Southland Conference champions. Gray had won the long jump, Kraft the high jump and Anderson the shot in 1968 SLC action.

The Rebels scored best all season in the field events with Gray, Kraft, Anderson and Don Morrison in the discus providing most of the points.

Two freshmen, Vance and Lance Adams, were top Rebels in the dashes and hurdles events, and senior Walt Hammond was a threat in the mile and three mile.

Varsity Tankers Win 12, Lose 2

UT Arlington's varsity swimmers posted an impressive 12-2 dual meet record despite the absence of Olympic Gold Medal winner Doug Russell, who was red-shirted.

The Rebels' only losses were to Big Eight Conference powerhouse Kansas and Southwest Conference Kingpin Southern Methodist. Both setbacks came on the road, Kansas winning 66-47 in Lawrence, Kan., and SMU taking a 69-44 victory in Dallas.

The tankers, coached by Don Easterling, accumulated 128 points to win the Texas Invitational Relays Dec. 7 at Austin and garnered 304 points to top the field at the Hendrix College Relays Dec. 14.

Reb dual meet victories came at the expense of John Brown University (twice), Eastern New Mexico, Texas Christian, Rice, Hendrix College, Missouri, Louisiana State, UT Austin, Arkansas, New Mexico State and Texas A&M.

The season was climaxed March 27-29 in Bloomington, Ind. when eleven Reb swimmers participated, but failed to place, in the NCAA University Championships.

UTA'S freshman season was highlighted by a pair of triumphs over SMU's frosh.

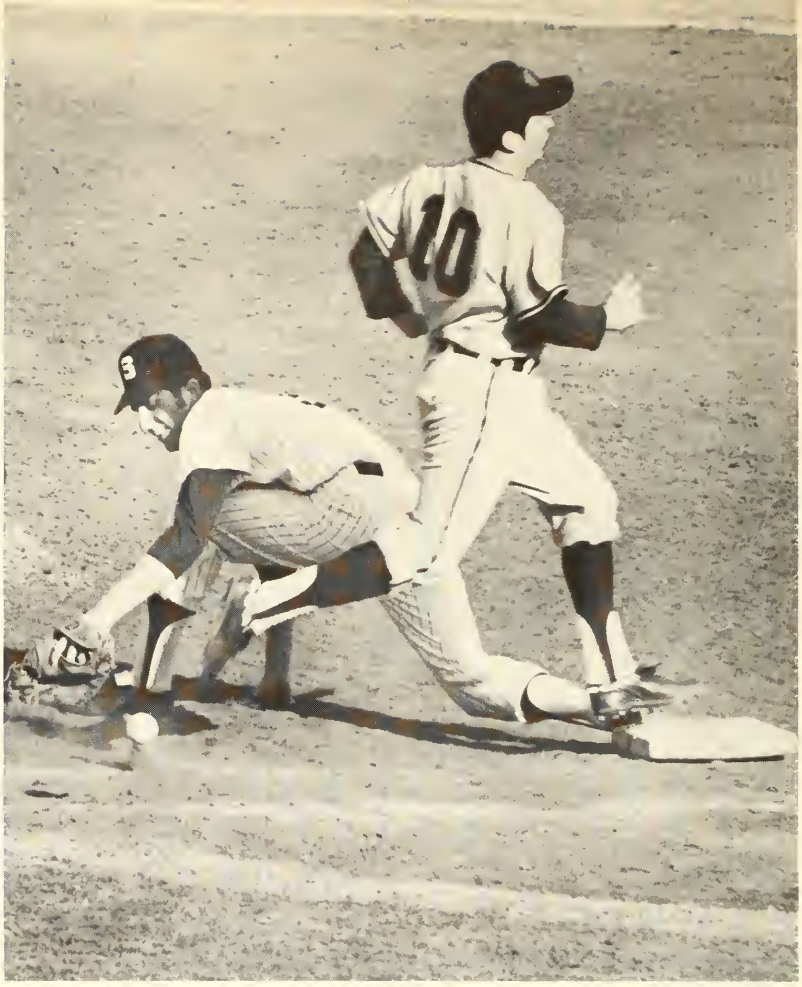
The Rebels, playing without scholarship, were confronted with a rugged 23-game schedule that included Southwest Conference member Texas Christian.

The Frogs gave the Rebs their first "big" setback, 18-2, then whipped the Confederates once again, 11-5 later in the season.

Other teams vying with the first-year Rebs were Tarleton State, University of Dallas, Southeastern Oklahoma, Dallas Baptist, Austin College, Texas Wesleyan, Abilene Christian, Trinity University, Lamar Tech and Arkansas State.

Games with ACC, Trinity, Lamar Tech and ASU were all Southland Conference clashes.

Members of the team, coached by Tom Beasley, were David Poston, Ronnie Green, Al Carter, Gene Merrell, Joe Massa, Loyd Sneed, Brent Skillman, Jimmy Hayes, Harvey Guthrey, Mike Spain, Henry Fulkerson, Sandy McGee, Larry Duke, Jim Abt, Danny Overcash, Steve Watkins, Ronnie Lucas, Tony Wilson, Barry Worden and Danny Wilson.



Ronnie Green is safe at first against Southeastern Oklahoma State after an infield roller. The play was good for an rbi, but Oklahoma won the 12-inning struggle 5-4.

Slugger Gene Merrell heads for home and congratulations from teammates after hitting first Reb homerun in history, a 325-footer against Austin College, March 21.

Rebel mentors are Sam West and Tom Beasley. The Rebels played at 10,000-seat Tarrant County Turnpike Stadium, home of the minor league Dallas-Ft. Worth Spurs.

Linksters Duel With North Dakota State

The seven-member UT Arlington golf team played in three tournaments and eleven dual matches during the 1969 season.

The Tom Tinker-coached linksters competed in the Southwestern Rec Meet at Fort Worth, the Stephen F. Austin Meet at Nacogdoches and the Abilene Intercollegiate Tournament at Abilene.

The Southland Conference meet at San Antonio ended the season for the Rebel golfers.

UTA scheduled dual meets with North Dakota State, North Texas State, Texas Wesleyan, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian. All matches except North Dakota State were played on a home-and-home basis.

Members of the Reb golf team included Garry Wolff, Tommy Williams, Mike Tipton, Rusty Lathen, Steve Kimball, Tommy Burton and Scott Bridges.

Elections, Contests Interest Students

The 1968 Fall elections were hindered by the construction and landscaping of a mall which replaced Second Street. Competition for twelve campus favorites, three freshman class officers and eight cheerleaders, several student congress positions and Miss Dixie Belle was as rigorous as in the past.

The preceding week girls competed in the preliminaries of the Reveille Beauty Contest wearing school clothes and after-fives. The 26 finalists appeared in tailored suits and formals and were judged by a fashion photographer, an instructor from John Robert Powers and a Dallas Tornado soccer player. Eight coeds were selected as university beauties.

Reveille beauty Linda Atkins finds herself crying amidst congratulations from her friends.

Miss UTA

UT Arlington's feminine spirit symbol is Miss UTA. Cindy Hall won this position in the spring elections. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority and a past Trinity House sweetheart.

Miss UTA is a 20-year-old junior history major whose hometown is Arlington. Cindy, as official hostess for the University of Texas at Arlington, welcomes visiting dignitaries and represents the college at off-campus activities. Her duty also takes her to area high schools to encourage students to attend UT Arlington.

Miss Dixie Belle

As the UT Arlington marching band played "The Impossible Dream" Miss Sandra Griffin was crowned Miss Dixie Belle. Miss Dixie Belle reigns as homecoming queen during the half-time ceremonies.

Sandra is a 20 year-old junior majoring in English. She is a member of Les Choisies sorority and makes her home in Arlington.

Finalists in the Miss Dixie Belle contest were Sandra Griffin, Sandra Caffey, Shari Schick and Cindi Sabatucci.

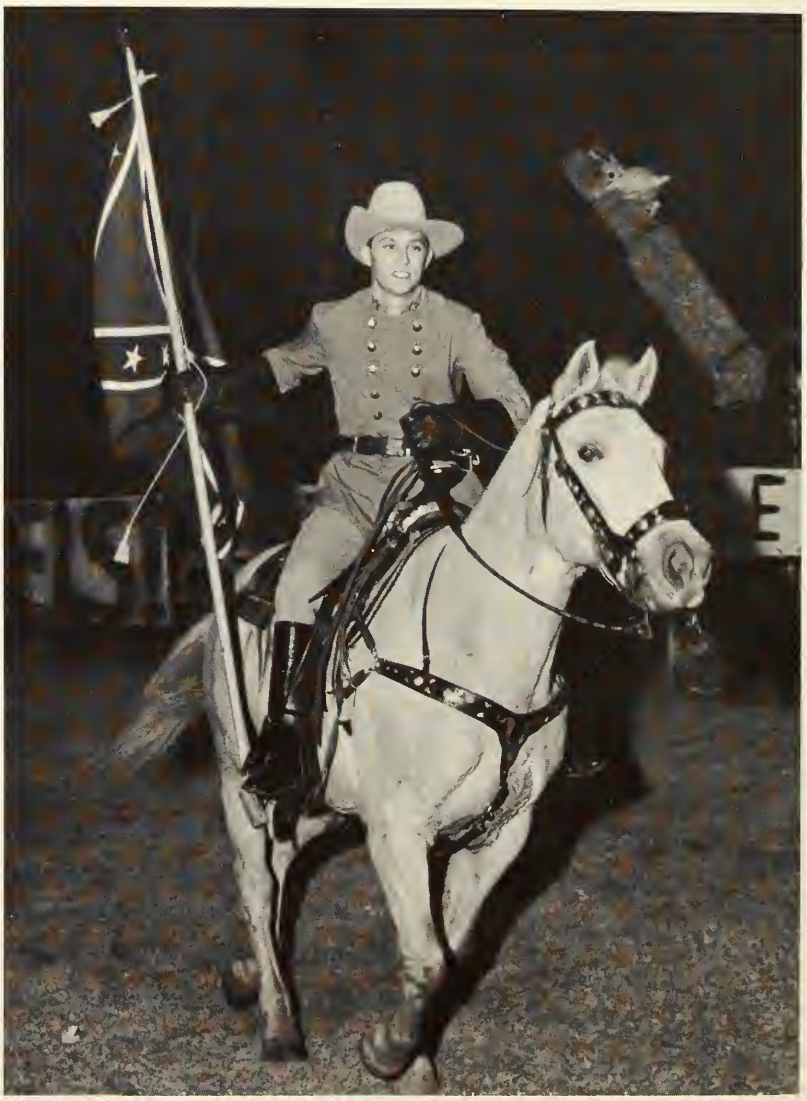
Johnny Reb



UT Arlington's male spirit symbol is Johnny Reb. Scott Taylor won this position in the spring elections.

His search for a uniform began before the end of school and continued through the summer. The uniform is patterned after the one worn by the Confederate cavalry general, Nathan Bedford Forrest. The double breasted grey jacket, ornamented with yellow braid, is worn with blue trousers. The yellow braid signifies the cavalry and the sword is symbolic of a mounted officer. Scott found a single brass button marked with the raised letters CSA (Confederate States of America). On the reverse side of the button dated 1812, he found the name of the Waterbury Button Company. Following up on a hunch he located the company in Waterbury, Connecticut, and learned that they had made all of the buttons for the Confederacy. The company notified Scott that there were only twelve buttons left. Scott bought the last of the 157-year old buttons for 12 cents each.

The black leather boots and gloves that Johnny Reb wears were handmade for him. His hat is styled after hats worn by cavalry officers. Johnny Reb acts as an official host of The University of Texas at Arlington.

An Arlington resident and past UTA cheerleader, he is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. Scott was one of three chosen Who's Who in Biology to represent this institution in the annual directory of distinguished American university students.

Who's Who

For the first time, UT Arlington participated in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, a program subscribed to by over 1,000 colleges in the United States.

The program was established in 1934. The biographies of students honored in the program are published in an annual directory.

An eight-man committee composed of faculty, administration and Student Congress members made the selections which were submitted to Who's Who.

UT System Among Nation's Ten Largest

UT Arlington is the second largest institution in the University of Texas System. The system includes ten campuses in seven cities.

The University of Texas System ranks among the ten largest systems of higher education in the nation, with total enrollment exceeding more than 50,000. The University of Texas at Arlington campus has 12,556 students, one-fourth of the system-wide enrollment.

The University Board of Regents continue making major academic policy decisions to update administrative procedures. The Board of Regents meets once each six weeks. The Regents are appointed by the Governor for six year terms.

Chancellor Appoints Acting President; New Chief Officer Holds Ph.D., M.D.

Dr. Frank Harrison became acting president of the University of Texas at Arlington on September 1, 1968, succeeding Dr. Jack R. Woolf, who was chief administrator 10 years before resigning to return to the classroom as a professor of mechanical engineering.

Dr. Harrison was granted a leave of absence from the UT Southwestern Medical School in Dallas by Chancellor Harry Ransom to assume the Arlington post until the search for a permanent president is completed. Prior to his appointment, he was associate dean of graduate studies for both the medical school and UT Arlington.

A specialist in neuroanatomy and neurophysiology who holds both the M.D. and Ph.D. degrees, the Dallas native received his B.S. degree in chemistry from Southern Methodist University in 1935, studying both at SMU and the UT Medical School at Galveston. He earned M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in neurology at Chicago's Northwestern University in 1936 and 1938, respectively.

Dr. Harrison served as professor and chairman of anatomy at the University of Tennessee. He designed and directed a medical electronics laboratory during his 13-year tenure there. He moved to Dallas in 1952 to join the Southwestern Medical School faculty as a professor of anatomy and to complete requirements for an M.D. degree, which he received in 1956. He organized the medical electronics laboratory at the Dallas school and served as its director from 1956 to 1960.

In 1956 Dr. Harrison was also named associate dean of the medical school and two years later took on additional duties as associate dean for graduate studies.

It was in this capacity that in 1966 the UT System called on Dr. Harrison to organize UT Arlington's new graduate program which has grown from an initial six master's degree programs to 16 in the fall of 1968. Dr. Harrison continued to serve as UT Arlington's chairman of the committee on graduate studies until his appointment as acting president.

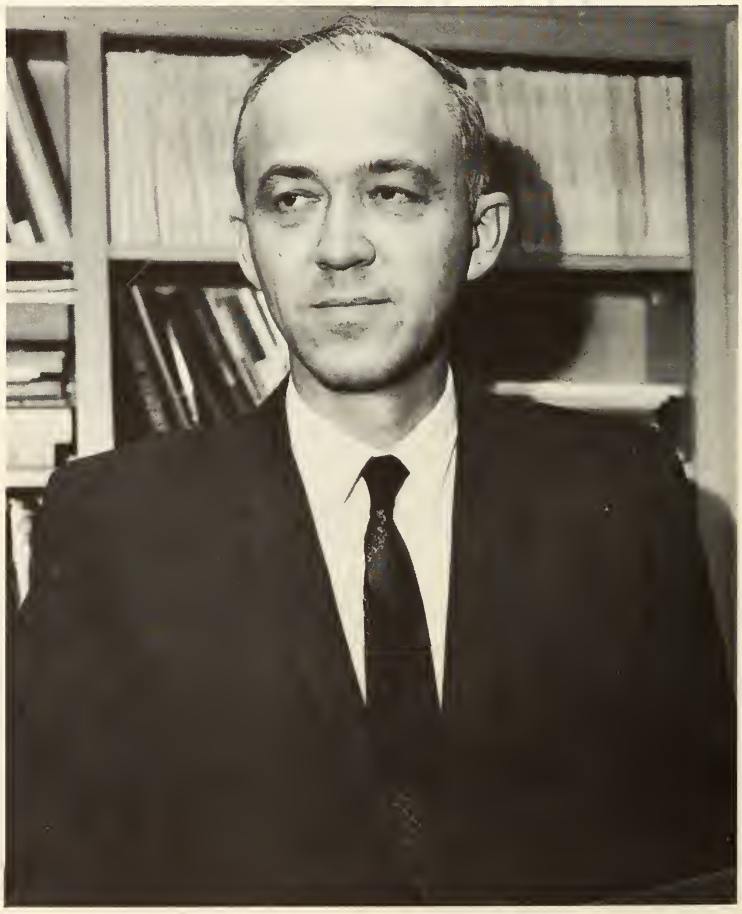
His professional affiliations include membership in the American Association of Anatomists, American Physiological Society, Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, New York Academy of Sciences, Biophysical Society, Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, and Dallas, County, Texas and American Medical Associations.

DR. FRANK HARRISON
ACTING PRESIDENT

DR. AND MRS. FRANK HARRISON greet faculty members at a reception held in the early fall honoring the Acting President who took office in September.

B. C. BARNES, VICE PRESIDENT FOR ADMINISTRATION, is responsible for building construction, staff budgets and is the chief financial officer of UT Arlington.

ROBERT PRICE, VICE PRESIDENT FOR BUSINESS AFFAIRS, deals primarily with the budgets of the university.



DR. WENDELL H. NEDDERMAN, VICE PRESIDENT OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS, DEAN OF ENGINEERING, AND ACTING ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR GRADUATE STUDIES is responsible for undergraduate instruction, and approves the budget and expenditures relating to academic affairs. The four deans of the undergraduate schools report to him; Dr. Nedderman reports directly to the President.

Deans Coordinate Instruction, Faculty

A university can satisfy its students' needs only with a capable faculty and an adequate program of study. Four academic deans, heading the Schools of Business Administration, Engineering, Liberal Arts, and Science, are entrusted with securing their pre-requisites for UT Arlington. By supervision and improvement of the personnel, curriculum, and budget within his department, each dean contributes to the preparedness of the university's students.

CHARLES HARDY, INTERNAL AUDITOR, deals primarily in systems work. He aids the different departments and checks to make certain they are complying with the law and with the regulations set forth by the Board of Regents. For the first time in the history of UT Arlington, the internal auditor's office is editing a "Handbook of Fiscal Regulations and Procedures" to be distributed to all departments.

Running a university the size of UT Arlington is big business. Handling the many monetary matters is the job of BUSINESS MANAGER A. L. VON ROSENBERG.

BOB STEPHENS, ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT, acts as liaison for UT Arlington and outside interests.

MRS. LOUISE CRIDER, BURSAR, receives payment of all fees and bills due to the University. She can be contacted for information concerning repayment of loans, residence hall room rent and student banking services.

JACK UTTERBACK, BUDGET AND REPORTS OFFICER, handles construction contracts, works with the business office on accounting procedures, and prepares the budget.

PURCHASING AGENT EUGENE PRASEK arranges for all purchases made by departments at UT Arlington.

CARROLL SHEFFIELD, ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGER, oversees accounts and acts in the capacity of business manager when the business manager is unable to do so.

Library Uses IBM Check-Out

The IBM 357 computer, recently installed in the Library, aids in checking out books. The computer keeps a total of the books checked out; the librarians receive this information each morning.

The Library has approximately 300,000 books, boasting a rapidly expanding collection on Urban Affairs, Social Work and housing the Texas Labor Collection. Librarian is John A. Hudson; Miss Mary Swisher is Associate College Librarian. The Library staff includes 48 full-time employes and several student assistants.

Faculty members gathered on the sixth floor of the Library in the early fall for a reception honoring Acting President Frank Harrison. In addition to a lounge area, the floor also houses Audio-Visual Aids Services and part of the Texas Labor Collection.

JOHN A. HUDSON, LIBRARIAN, and MISS MARY SWISHER, ASSOCIATE LIBRARIAN, test the IBM computer system used for checking out books in the 300,000 volume university library.

ASSISTANT REGISTRAR

EVERETT STRAHAN, DIRECTOR OF THE PHYSICAL PLANT, manages and oversees the construction and maintenance of campus facilities.

NORMAN MINTER, DIRECTOR OF PERSONNEL, is the head of the office which assists with the records for the 1,500 full-time and part-time employes of the University.

Management Assisted By Computer Systems

MARVIN SANDERS, DATA PROCESSING MANAGER, and NORMAN WEAVER, SYSTEMS ANALYST, not only handle the accounting system for the business office, but also take care of the registration system for the registrar.

RICHARD YANTIS, EDITOR OF OFFICIAL PUBLICATIONS, is responsible for the printing of the thousands of catalogs at the University and the UT Arlington Briefs.

KENNETH WHITT, INFORMATION AND PUBLICATIONS DIRECTOR, handles news releases and publications for the University concerning information about its progress to the public.

WILLIAM "DUB" BROWN, DIRECTOR OF SPORTS INFORMATION, helps place UT Arlington in the limelight of the athletic world, by editing athletic brochures, distributing sports releases and promoting all games.

Publicity Necessary For Active Campus

Deans Guide Students

KENT GARDNER, ASSISTANT DEAN OF STUDENT LIFE, has the responsibility of Student Housing and the sponsorship of the Interfraternity Council. He adds to a busy day by being in charge of intramural activities.

FRANK REAGAN, ASSOCIATE DEAN OF STUDENT LIFE, is a liaison to Student Publications and Student Activities. He is Civil Defense and discipline coordinator and is a member of thc Advisory Committee on Student Life and Activities.

DEAN OF STUDENT LIFE CHARLES MCDOWELL is the chief ombundsman of the entire Student Life division. Dean McDowell's responsibilities extend to student activities, functional areas of counseling and membership on various campus committees.

MRS. RUTH CRARY arrived on the UT Arlington campus August 25 to take over her jub as ASSISTANT DEAN OF STUDENT LIFE. She is PANHELLENIC ADVISOR and is a liason to the Interfraternity Council and the Student Congress.

WELDON BREWSTER, DEAN OF STUDENT ADMINISTRATION, handles changes in majors, conferences concerning probation, withdrawals from the University and the administration of attendance regulations.

MARION JACOBS, DIRECTOR OF FINANCIAL AFFAIRS, and FRANK YATES, DIRECTOR OF PLACEMENT, handle all loans, scholarship grants, student employment and placement for seniors. They also act as liaisons for the Peace Corps.

Interested Administrators Aid Students

DR. WILLIAM KARRAKER, DIRECTOR OF TESTING AND COUNSELING, and FRANK GAULT, STUDENT COUNSELOR, give educational and occupational guidance and information to students.

RUFUS TAYLOR, SECURITY CHIEF, heads a staff of 15 that provides 24-hour protection for the UT Arlington campus.

As STUDENT ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR, MRS. CAROLYN WADDELL is sponsor of the Student Activities Board, approves all posters and handbills to be distributed on the campus and handles the programming and registration of student events.

Operating the Health Center and providing on-campus medical attention for approximately 60,000 patients each year is the responsibility of MRS. JUANITA TURNER, NURSING SERVICES SUPERVISOR.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS ADVISOR ERNEST LEISTER oversees the production of the yearbook, the REVEILLE, and the literary magazine, the ARLINGTON REVIEW.

MRS. HAZEL SMITH, FOOD SERVICES DIRECTOR, prepares menus for 2,500 meals served each day and manages the 40 full-time and 25 part-time employes of the student center cafeterias.

PAT FOWLER, DIRECTOR OF HOUSING AND STUDENT CENTER FACILITIES, and ASSISTANTS FRED HUNSTABLE and DON BECKNER, are responsible for the operation of the E. H. Hereford Student Center.

School Officials Help Plan Student Activities

Various university officials share the many responsibilities of campus security, student publications, and the Health Center. These duties extend to the operation of the E. H. Hereford Student Center, the organizing of student activities, the supplying and operation of the school book store and the exchange store.

Buying supplies, textbooks, novelty items and paperbacks is the responsibility of LARRY MINOR, RETAIL STORE MANAGER.

RESEARCH

Computer Simulates Traffic Problems

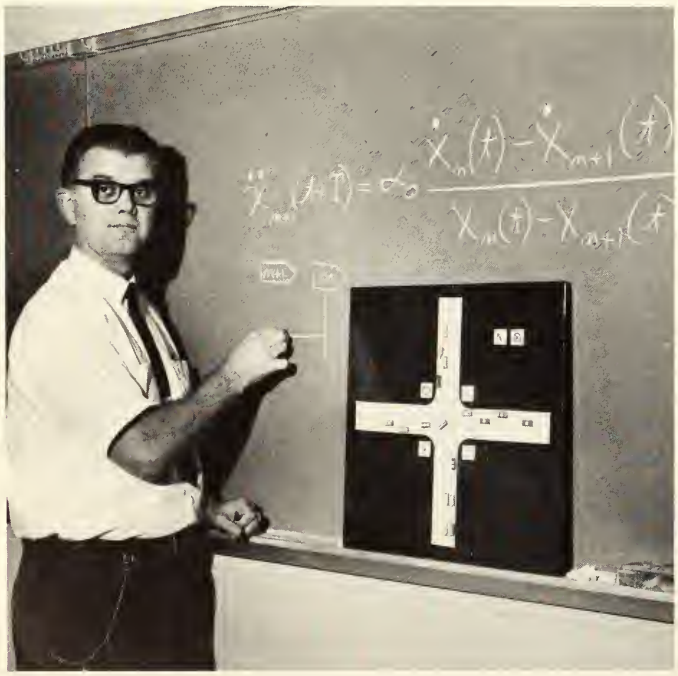
Dr. John J. Haynes of the Civil Engineering department is completing a computer simulation program dealing with traffic control. Various amounts of traffic are guided into an intersection from all directions by a timing device.

The signal timing may be varied and compared to other systems to reduce delays. With the use of the Sigma Seven computer the programming could be extended to include many interrelated signalized intersections.

Dr. Robert M. Johnson of Engineering Mechanics, is researching the deformation and anelasticity of metal single crystals. Dr. Johnson is trying to determine the basic deformation process in crystalline materials and the importance of surface conditions on these processes.

Dr. Johnson and two graduate students are growing the crystals, deforming them and then examining the crystals through the use of a dislocation etching process. Hopefully these studies will lead to an understanding of the deformation processes which are unknown at this time.

Dr. F. L. Cash of the Electrical Engineering department and five student assistants are doing research on antenna systems suitable for satellite and spacecraft applications. He spent the past summer at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration designing antennas for this use.



Dr. John J. Haynes, Civil Engineering

Dr. Mo-Shing Chen, Electrical Engineering

Dr. Cash is now designing and constructing antennas that will meet the technical specifications established for the Apollo Applications Program. He hopes that his most successful engineering prototype will be used to set the specifications for the actual antenna to be used for the Earth Research Program Satellite. Dr. Cash is also conducting an ionosphere investigation to try to interpret the ionospheric strength as a function of the satellite signal characteristics.

Dr. Mo-Shing Chen of the Electrical Engineering department is researching the performance of a power system under normal and abnormal conditions. Dr. Chen is using a CDC 6600 computer to simulate a power distribution system. The computer then solves the distribution problem numerically.

Texas Electric Service Company and Dallas Power and Light are sponsoring the research which directly applies to power system planning and the economic and safe operation of large scale power systems.

Dr. K. R. Rao, assistant professor of Electrical Engineering, is working in the field of direct energy conversion. He intends to set up an undergraduate DEC laboratory to demonstrate the various principles of energy conversion, and to carry out research on DEC devices to perhaps discover new applications.

Dr. Rao has previously set up and taught a direct energy conversion section at the University of New Mexico. He hopes that this lab will lead to the discovery of new devices, applications in control and the instrumentation of these devices.

Art Research Studies Involve Photothetics

Dr. Mary Alford of the Art Department is completing a two year study entitled "Arlington Art Abilities" in which she is determining the reasons why people turn to art for a college major or a profession. Frank McGlassen is one of five students assisting Dr. Alford. The project will hopefully provide a basis for future research and perhaps provide background material for junior college curricula.

Orton Hamby of the Art Department is experimenting with color photography in the hopes that he can produce color photographs of common objects that will have an esthetic value. Hamby has entitled the technique "photothetics." He has spent the last 10 years on this study which combines psychological and emotional reactions to color, shape, and the position of various objects. The photographs may have psychological possibilities parallel to the ink blots used in psychological testing today, especially when coupled with appropriate music.

Economist Investigates Tariff Barriers

Marna K. Carney of the Economics Department worked a year at Oxford University on Britain's role as a world banker and is studying international tariff barriers and investment flows.

She is relating trade barriers to Britain's foreign investment prior to World War I and in recent years. Mrs. Caney is testing the Mundell hypothesis that a barrier to one flow such as trade stimulates flow of an alternative factor such as capital.

Dr. Ghazi Duwaji of the Economics Department is researching economic development in North Africa. His research, titled "Law and Population Growth in Tunisia," is a follow-up to his book Economic Development in Tunisia: Course and Impact of Government Planning.

Under the sponsorship of the School of Business Research Fund, Dr. Duwaji is studying the effect of law on the population growth of Tunisia. His ultimate goal is to prove that law cannot fail to influence the size of population of any country.

Dr. Curtis Graham of the Accounting Department is researching the capital decision structure of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Dr. Graham has interviewed the top-level decision makers in Dallas and Fort Worth and has discovered that there is inadequate cooperation between the municipal governments in planning, financing and operating mutually needed capital facilities. He has identified the six key leaders in the Dallas-Fort Worth area who influence all major municipal capital decisions.

Dr. Graham thinks that this study may result in area local governments being able to provide more and better capital facilities at an earlier date and at less cost.

According to Dr. William Paul Green of the Business Administration Department, the public's conception about mergers and the size of banks may be in error.

In a study in which orthodox theories on bank size are being compared to data from various banks around the country by using an IBM 360 computer system, Dr. Green is attempting to determine what influence the size of the bank has on the availability of credit to small businesses.

Dr. Green says that his studies seem to point out, contrary to the general public conception, that the availability of credit to small business increases as the bank size increases.

Using financial statement data in making investment decisions is the subject of studies by Dr. H. J. Snavely of the Accounting Department.

According to Dr. Snavely, accountants must know how financial statements are used if the best accounting practices are to be selected. This has heretofore been an unexplored area.

Using mainly regression analysis of statistics from 50 companies selected at random from those listed on the New York Stock Exchange over a 15-year period (1953-1967), Snavely hopes to glean the information needed for selecting proper accounting procedures. The UT Arlington School of Business is providing funds for the project. Dr. Snavely's previous work in this field includes the studying, buying and selling of stocks.

Professor Edits Bibliography Journal

Dr. Frank L. Stallings is writing a bibliographical secondary commentary on American writers who flourished between 1870 and 1910. This is a project parallel to those of Dr. Clayton Eichelberger and the magazine American Literary Realism 1870-1910 which is published by the UT Arlington English Department.

Computational linguisitics in Spanish and Portuguese is currently a research interest of Dr. James L. Wyatt, head of the Foreign Language Department.

Dr. Wyatt is working on two projects; the first is programming a computer to recognize theoretically possible noun and verb phrases in random textual material. The second is tabulating and making a comparison of words used in didactic sections with those in drill sections.

Information gained from these projects will be used to aid in comparing and drawing conclusions as to the disputed textual authorship. Senior Spanish major James Everett is working with Dr. Wyatt; The University of Texas at Austin is sponsoring the work with funds provided by the Modern Languages Association of America.

Dr. Clayton Eichelberger, English

Dr. James Wyatt, Foreign Languages

Dr. Margaret Lee Wiley of the English Department is conducting bibliographical research of literary criticism of American writings. Her previous work in the area includes articles and editing in periodical and book form. She has published 18th and 19th century American letters never before published. She has also published little known Shakespearean bibliographical and literary data.

Dr. Clayton Eichelberger, Professor of English, is editor of American Literary Realism 1870-1910, a journal of bibliography. The journal is supported by subscriptions and grants made available through the Liberal Arts Research Fund and the UT Arlington English Department. Two years ago Dr. Eichelberger and several of his colleagues began laying plans for the journal. As of November, 1968, four issues of the journal had been published.

Dr. Robert E. McDowell of the English Department is researching African, West Indian and American Negro writing. The findings of his research is to be published as an article. Dr. McDowell also hopes to teach a class at UT Arlington entitled "A Survey of African Literature," and one dealing with the literature of American Negroes, based on research from his articles.

"The Black Mother in African, West Indian and American Fiction" will be the seventh in a series of articles Dr. McDowell has written on African literature. He has collected information for this article by spending one and one-half months in the West Indies studying the topic and through reading various books.

Religious Values and Dating Studied

Dr. Ronald C. Engle of the Sociology Department is investigating the relationship between peoples' values and their behavior.

Religious values and the pre-marital dating behavior being the specific area of interest, questionnaires were presented to the student body at Texas Christian University, and a representative sample completed. These results will be compared with those from other universities in hopes of contributing factual data in place of hypotheses regarding present student behavior. This and other research interests of Dr. Engle include family, religion and political sociology.

Dr. Garvin McCain of the Psychology Department and his assistants are studying the effects of reward magnitude in animals and searching for the differences in performance in reference to different quantities or types of reward.

Dr. McCain has been granted $50,000 by the National Science Foundation, the National Institute of Mental Health and the United States Air Force. Dr. McCain has five assistants at Holloman Air Force Base, and four at U.T. Arlington.

Blaine T. Williams, head of the Sociology Department, is researching the social structure and power complex of Dallas to try to discover why people have chosen to live in this area.

Dr. Garvin McCain, Psychology

Blaine T. Williams, Sociology

Williams has analyzed the migration patterns since 1850 and has investigated the establishment of an ordered social structure. All the census data for Dallas, Tarrant, Collin, Denton, Grayson and Cooke counties has been coded and sorted to trace the individual migration patterns.

Williams has completed four of seven chapters of a book which will be published by the University of Texas press in 1969. The book will explain the existence of a vast urban complex which is not explained by any of the existing theories of urban location and growth.

Dr. Donald H. Weiss of the History and Philosophy Department is studying inter-racial intergroup attitudes and inter-action projects in Fort Worth. Dr. Weiss developed a "Sensitivity Training" seminar program and a questionnaire used to survey a representative sample of 300 residents. The study, designed to analyze existing attitudes and cooperation levels, may eventually provide a means for resolving intergroup differences in American cities.

Historian Investigates FDR-era Problems

Dr. W. H. Droze, History

Dr. George Wolfskill of the History Department is outlining the problems of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's era and his special committee concerned with the economic problems of the nation at the time.

"The New Deal and the South" questions primarily whether or not the New Deal effectively dealt with the problems of the day, assuming that the major problem was an economic one. Miss Jackie Pearson, a history major, is helping Dr. Wolfskill compile his information.

"La Presence Americaine Au Maroc" is the title of a manuscript being written by Dr. Leon Borden Blair of the History Department.

The purpose of the research is to measure the impact of The American Military personnel and their families on Moroccan institutions after 1942.

One manuscript on the subject written by Dr. Blair has been accepted for publication; two are now in the process of being composed for publication.

Using a research method which he describes as "sift, select, interpret, and record," Dr. W. H. Droze of the History Department continues his study of the New Deal's Shelter Belt program and Tennessee Valley Authority flood control activities.

"I hope to cast light on two subjects which heretofore have been largely unexplored. Hopefully these studies will be useful in determining the feasibility of future projects which are similar to the Shelter Belt and TVA," explains Dr. Droze.

Dr. Droze presented a paper on the Shelter Belt at the 1967 Walter Prescott Webb Memorial Lectures, sponsored by the UT Arlington history department. Working with a small research grant from the school of Liberal Arts, he is using student aid in researching library data.

Dr. Droze is also beginning a study of the prohibitionist movement in Texas in the early 20th century. He will research several new theories concerning the connection of prohibition to Southern politics of the period.

A group of five history and political science professors are undertaking a world-wide regional study of student violence to determine any interregional patterns.

Dr. Howard Lackman of the History department is examining the student violence of Central and Latin America. Dr. Arthur W. Tucker of the History department is studying the European front. Dr. Leon B. Blair, also of the History department, is scouring the Middle East for possible patterns in student violence. Dr. Jhang S. Moon and Dr. Carl Gilbert of the History department are collaborating in the study of Asia. A sifting of all mass media between 1958 and 1968 is being used to pinpoint causes and effects of violence. Dr. Charles W. Van Cleve of the Government Department is studying the United States and Canada over the same period.

When the studies are completed, the results are to be compiled into a book entitled "A Decade of Violence". The book will compare the violence problems in the hopes that a solution can someday be found.

Dr. Martin Hardwick Hall of the History Department is compiling a complete annotated biographical muster of the Confederate Army of New Mexico. Dr. Hall is using military service records, pensions, bounty land claims, marriage and death certificates, interviews with descendants, diarys, newspaper accounts, official and personal letters and Masonic records to secure biographical sketches of all company and regimental commanders.

Dr. Luther W. Odom of the Government Department is making a sample scale survey using computer tabulated research to correlate the relation between socio-economic factors and political beliefs. This is similar to a study which he made at Wichita Falls in 1967.

The poll consists of questions on the respect for rules of the political game, the desire for free speech, and the cynicism and sense of futility in American voters. Dr. Odom hopes to show conclusively by the results of the comparison of answers, how voting behavior can be accurately predicted.

Other projects include polls on factors entering into the 1968 election and how early voters decide on their candidates. Student aid in distributing questionnaires is being used.

Allan Saxe of the Government Department has written several papers on community and race relations, the most recent of which emphasizes community change.

Through attitude surveys and personal interviews he has discovered that one community was able to change its traditional ways of treating an existing minority race without the use of violence or turmoil. Mr. Saxe hopes that from his studies other communities might learn to also resolve their race differences without tension.

Mountains, Oil, and Fossils Surveyed

Dr. Charles F. Dodge of the Geology Department is searching for a better method to force oil from between tightly packed sandstone layers.

Until now the sandstone would have been flooded with water, forcing oil from between the tightly-packed sand grains into the well, then to the surface. "But you still leave much of your oil in the rock," says Dr. Dodge. Hopefully Dr. Dodge's research will provide a new and better way of removing the oil from this stone.

Dr. Russel E. Clemons of the Geology Department is engaged in the first geological mapping of the Altos Cuchumatanes Mountains in Northwestern Guatemala.

After three months of field work and a one-year part-time laboratory study of rock specimens, Dr. Clemons is completing the basic geological fieldmapping, petrographic and chemical study of the rocks. Several fossils are being sent to various specialists for identification. Dr. Clemons will provide general information of rock distribution and hopes his research may be used to further the economic development of Guatemala.

Dr. C. L. McNulty of the Geology department is studying the character of certain fossil fish teeth and the fish which bore them.

Rock suspected to contain the teeth is excavated and carried to the laboratory in one hundred-pound sacks. The rock is then weathered, washed and sieved for concentrate. The teeth are picked by hand from concentrate under the stereoscopic microscope. Individual teeth are examined closely, thin-sectioned and compared to related living fish teeth.

The study has resulted in a dilineation of a family of fossil fishes of which there was previously little information. Further research should reveal even more knowledge of fossil fishes.

Girardot Studies Iron Complexes

Dr. R. P. Girardot, Dean of the School of Science, is researching inorganic chemistry through the use of a gamma ray spectroscope.

The spectroscope is used to study the nature of chemical bonding which determines the basic properties of matter. The data is stored in a 400 channel analyzer to be recalled later for processing.

The goal of this research is to determine the bonding of iron complexes in inorganic compounds, and in other natural products such as hemoglobin. Dr. Girardot hopes that this research will lead to the discovery of the nature of hemoglobin fractions and the possible causes of stress or fatigue failure in ferrous alloys.

Dr. C. C. Hall of the Biology Dept. is observing the social parisitism of mites.

One group of mites is invading the plant galls made by the other group. Dr. Hall is trying to determine the extent of this behavior and the mechanisms involved. He is working with Dr. R. E. Beer of the University of Kansas in studying the geotropism and migration of mites of the host plant.

In the field the plants are marked in various ways to determine the movements of mites as well as the distance they travel. The overwintering sites are located and the mechanisms involved in selecting these sites are determined. When mass movements are detected the plant galls are then checked for parasitism.

Dr. G. L. Johnson is working on iron and steel corrosion in various media. The rapid detection and measurement of corrosion rates of metals used as surgical implant materials is essential.

Dr. Johnson is using an Atomic Absorption in Spectrophotometry to analyze the surrounding media and detect metal ions which have been removed from the metal surface by corrosion. The work has taken eight years and is continuing because surgical prosthetic materials are continually changing and new metals or alloys require new study.

DR. THOMAS J. COGDELL, CHEMISTRY

DR. C. C. HALL, BIOLOGY

DR. P. R. GIRARDOT, CHEMISTRY

Dr. Andrew T. Armstrong, assistant professor of Chemistry, is researching inorganic energy transfer systems as related to biological energy transfer systems.

The research involves analyzing the electronic structure of an atom to determine how the elements of the atom interact upon each other.

Dr. Truman D. Black, assistant professor of physics, is researching the magnetic resonance and crystal structure of fluoride structures.

A spectrometer X-ray camera is used to photograph the structure. These photographs will be used to try to determine the Spin-lattice interactions in these crystalline structures. Dr. Black has come to a conclusion concerning the basic symmetry of the structures and hopes that his work will lead to a better understanding of the fundamental structures related to LASER materials.

Dr. Thomas J. Cogdell, professor of chemistry, and Roger S. Case, a graduate student and lab instructor, are experimenting with the effect of orbital symmetry of double carbon bonds on the reaction rate. Reaction rates of bonds with and without nodes will be measured by the conductivity of solutions in acetic acid. The year study is sponsored by the Robert A. Welch Foundation which has allocated $36,000 for the research.
